CYNGOR CAERDYDD
CARDIFF COUNCIL

POLICY REVIEW & PERFORMANCE SCRUTINY COMMITTEE

18 May 2021

Capital Ambition: Organisational Recovery and Renewal

Purpose of the Report

1. To provide Members with information to assist pre-decision scrutiny of two reports to Cabinet in relation to Cardiff's Recovery and Renewal.
2. The reports, due to be considered by Cabinet on 20 May 2021:
 - Outline how the Council will seek to adapt to the challenges and opportunities of the new operating environment as the city emerges from the current phase of the pandemic.
 - Seek approval for the establishment of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal Programme.

Structure of the Papers

3. To facilitate the scrutiny the following appendices are attached to this report:

Appendix 1 – Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal Overview

Appendix 2 – Capital Ambition: Organisational Recovery and Renewal

Scope of the Scrutiny

4. The Terms of Reference for the Committee confer responsibility to scrutinise, monitor and review the overall operation of the Cardiff Programme for Improvement, particularly the Council's systems of financial control, administration, use of human resources and the impact of partnership arrangements.

5. At their meeting on 20 May 2021, the Cabinet will consider how the Council aims to adapt to the challenges and opportunities of the new operating environment as the city emerges from the current phase of the Covid-19 pandemic in reports that set out the steps proposed to deliver a Recovery and Renewal Programme.
6. During this scrutiny, Members will have an opportunity to test the recommendations to Cabinet and explore:
 - Key factors shaping proposals
 - Impact of the proposals on existing commitments
 - Resource implications (financial and staff)
 - Risks to the Council
 - Next Steps and timelines.

Background

7. The Council has played a vital role throughout the pandemic, adapting its services to deliver in the emergency. The Covid-19 pandemic has had a significant impact on Cardiff as Wales focal point for employment, retail and the visitor economy. However the data suggests that the public health position is improving and, whilst some social distancing will remain throughout 2021, the City is entering a period of stability that necessitates moving from the 'essential services' operating model to the 'post-Covid19' operating environment.
8. The reports attached at Appendices 1 & 2 set out how the Council plan to move into the new operating environment.

Issues identified in the Cabinet Report

9. Appendix 1 provides an overview of the Council's approach to recovery and renewal. It explains that following the Covid-19 pandemic in the medium to long term there will be significant shifts in the way in which people live, work and travel, there will be new challenges and opportunities for the city economy and for local public services. Recognising this, the Cabinet has commissioned four 'Recovery and Renewal' reports to consider how the pandemic has impacted life in the city and to identify a series of proposals that could underpin long term renewal. These four reports will be presented to Cabinet alongside the overview report and scrutinised by the relevant committee. They are:

- Organisational Recovery and Renewal (PRAP)
- Greener, Fairer, Stronger: City Recovery and Renewal (Economy & Culture Scrutiny Committee)
- Delivering a Child Friendly Recovery (Children & Young People Scrutiny Committee)
- A One Planet Recovery (Environmental Scrutiny Committee)

10. Appendix 2 - the Organisational Recovery and Renewal report sets out at point 4 ten principals that the Council believe will inform how local public services will change as a result of the pandemic. In short they are:

- Child, family, citizen at the centre
- Community/locality-focussed (place-based)
- Flexibility
- Partnership - a whole-system response from the city's public services.
- Prevention over cure
- Digital by default
- Data and evidence-led
- Service innovation (be bold/creative)
- One Planet Council:
- Leading an inclusive economic recovery

11. Using these principles as a foundation the report states that the Council will need to make changes to the way it works in response to the pandemic by establishing a 'Recovery and Renewal Programme', subject to review after a 12 month period.

12. The report sets out priority areas for action and key issues within each area.

Listed below is a summary and the point at which Members will find full details in Appendix 2.

Adopting a Hybrid Working model – summary of points 6-27

13. The 'work from home' model for non-frontline staff continues to operate effectively with a substantial proportion of non-frontline staff working from home, with services and corporate functions continuing to function well. Arrangements have worked well, with discussions, meetings and productivity being maintained, management by outcome over 'presenteeism' and the benefit of an improved work/life balance.

14. The report claims that sickness absence rates have reduced significantly in those departments who have adopted agile working at scale and the Council has been able to reconsider and streamline its core office accommodation requirements.
15. However, a number of challenges have also been identified. Meetings which require creative thinking can prove more challenging; it can be more difficult to build relationships and for staff to build the networks that enable effective working; continuous Teams meetings should be avoided; home environments must be both safe and appropriate for work; and there is a danger of 'blurring of the lines' between work and home lives.
16. The report indicates that in the short term the current arrangements for home and agile working will be maintained for the remainder of the 2021 calendar year, a re-assessment of work spaces in core office accommodation with maximum occupancy numbers for each office assigned. The Council does not intend to revert back to the pre-pandemic office footprint and 'traditional' staff office working patterns. Instead the Council is looking to introduce a new 'hybrid' model that maintains the benefits of increased home and flexible working arrangements experienced over the past year, whilst mitigating the risks identified.
17. Four broad categories have been identified against which all roles within the Council will be assessed:

A	Fixed location	Employees who need to be at the same location or desk every day, including frontline workers who commence from a set base.
B	Flexible/Agile	Employees who will have an office base, but may work from home or spend time out of the office base, meeting customers. The amount of time out of the office will vary, but could be up to 70% of the time. On average, it is anticipated that agile workers would be in the office for 2 days a week and that these days would be flexible, depending on work requirements.
C	Home based	Employees who commence and end their work at their home, but are mobile throughout the day.
D	Home	Employees who perform 100% of their duties from their home

18. The report states that only fixed location employees would have a permanent desk, all other employees would have access to a desk and collaboration spaces via an online booking system. All home workers and a number of home-based and flexible workers would be required to have regular health and safety assessments.
19. All employee roles will be assigned a category, and once a role is defined, staff will be able to request switches between categories; however, this must be in line with service requirements and agreed by service managers and staff members.
20. Staff will have a mutually consented change to their terms and conditions so that their base of work is identified for contractual purposes. Full trade union consultation will take place on this proposal.
21. To support the new approach there will be a review of the Council's Homeworking Policy and other associated policies.
22. The transition to an agile working model post-pandemic is required at pace, including the allocation of agile working devices and investment in meeting room facilities, 'touch down' points, desk booking and utilisation technology.
23. A network of community 'touch down' points and remote working hubs will be developed based in Council or partner buildings that will contain flexible desk space, meeting rooms and collaboration spaces that can be booked online.
24. Clearly the nature and scale of the Council's accommodation footprint will require a fundamental review of its office and depot accommodation, and detailed business cases for both will be presented back to the Cabinet for consideration.

Accelerating the Council's Digital Programme - summary of points 28-31

25. The report states that the Council was well-placed to respond to the shift in digital and online working due to a major programme of investment in the Council's ICT infrastructure. This has also allowed the Council to lead on a number of city-wide and national digital operations like the Cardiff and Vale Test, Trace, Protect (TTP) service and the city's vaccination programme.
26. The shift towards online activities and digital service delivery will continue to accelerate post-pandemic. Many "new adopters" of digital services will require acceleration of the Council's digital agenda, including: supporting the 'hybrid working' model; process digitisation and the paperless office; online access to services to meet the Council's successful delivery of channel shift towards digital routes; enhanced use of artificial intelligence; and real time data collection, presentation and analysis.

Convening and leading a city-wide response to recovery and renewal - summary of points 32-41

27. The past 12 months has seen a culture of joint working between the city's public services on an unprecedented depth and scale, led by the Cardiff Public Services Board (PSB) chaired by the Leader of the Council. Looking to the future, the continued management of the pandemic and many of the most complex problems facing public services in the post-Covid environment will require the same level of partnership commitment and action. In the immediate term, this will include the continuation of the TTP service, with Cardiff Council hosting the national surge team for Wales; the continued rollout of the mass vaccination programme, including the potential for further booster shots in the autumn, and the critical role of responding to increased international traveller and any outbreaks of 'variants of concern.'
28. Strengthened partnership arrangements and joint working will be required, building on the progress made in integrating health and social care services and responding to the impact of 'long-Covid; embedding and building upon the new approach to homelessness and rough sleeping; responding to the increase in poor child and adult mental health; increases in family breakdown and a rise in the number of children in need of support; and a wide range of community safety, cohesion and safeguarding issues.
29. The report proposes that the Cardiff PSB's Wellbeing Assessment and Plan, and the partnership governance arrangements supporting the Cardiff PSB, are reviewed and refreshed in order to support the continued level of partnership working that will be required over the years ahead.
30. It remains likely that cities will remain the engines of regional economies, Cardiff must therefore play an active leadership role in the development and establishment of a Corporate Joint Committee (CJC) for the Cardiff Capital Region over the year ahead.

Locality Working: Building cross-public services ‘teams around the community’

- summary of points 42-49

31. The report states that a locality model for service delivery forms a core component of the Council's wider aspirations to be a '15 minute city,' where all people, but particularly children, vulnerable adults and older people, in all communities can travel safely by foot and by cycle to local public services, district centres with shops and community amenities, work spaces and high quality parks.
32. Therefore the Council proposes working closely with partners to combine assets and services in a community, including schools, health and care services, local policing and the third sector.
33. The model aspires to design communities in a way that accommodates the needs of older people, with housing options that enable people to live in their own homes and communities for as long as possible.
34. To support the Council's Child Friendly City programme there will be local join up of public services in communities, particularly for the city's most vulnerable children. This will involve the adoption of a 'team in the school/team around the family' approach, with support and wellbeing services co-located in schools, including: youth workers, social workers, family support workers, school-based counselling and mental health services. To support the most vulnerable families, access to wider family support services will be closely aligned, including: early help & family support; domestic violence support; mental health services; and financial and housing advice and support.

Leading a greener, fairer recovery – summary of points 50-57

35. The report recognises that as the city economy enters a challenging period post-pandemic, the Council's power as a major employer, its spending power and its civic leadership will become of even greater importance. Economically it plans to re-build a fairer, greener post-pandemic city with a development agenda and programme of capital investment that stimulates the local economy.
36. The Council will also use the power of its policies, procurement and influence to accelerate fairer economic recovery, support local businesses and provide job opportunities including Delivering the Living Wage City initiative; Enhancing the Council's apprenticeship scheme; maximising local job creation and supporting local supply chains through social clauses.

37. In response to the climate emergency the Council will adapt its own organisational policies and practice to lead Cardiff's transition to a low carbon economy. Some examples include increasing the uptake of hybrid working and active travel amongst staff; transitioning the Council's fleet to low carbon and electric vehicles; retrofitting street lighting with more sustainable LED technology; adopting digital technologies and smart metering to better manage energy usage in council buildings;
38. In addition as part of its Recovery and Renewal Programme the Council will work with the Race Equality Task Force over the year ahead to ensure the implementation of its recommendations, in particular to the organisational policies that can support greater opportunities and support for people from the city's ethnic minority communities.

Service Recovery - summary of points 54-57

39. For the remainder of 2021 council services will continue to operate with some social distancing measures in place and recovery plans will place services back on a sustainable footing. A corporate exercise to identify the impact of the pandemic and the adaptations required for all services will be undertaken by Directorates over the course of the summer.
40. Similarly, known budget hotspots, particularly in areas which will see increased demand as a result of the pandemic, or those reliant on income streams impacted by the pandemic, will receive targeted intervention to support service transformation.

Robust Financial and Performance Management – summary of points 58-60

41. The Budget Strategy for 2021/22 highlighted a need to continue to identify new opportunities for delivering efficiency and a significant driver for this must be transformation across services. As part of a review and refresh of current arrangements, additional support will be provided to ensure that all 2021/22 savings are delivered as planned and all budget 'hotspots' are targeted early and effectively through robust budget monitoring to ensure that mitigating actions as appropriate can be taken in-year.

A strengthened approach to performance management and data analysis – summary of points 61-63

42. The Local Government and Elections Act (Wales) 2021 introduced new and additional performance requirements on all local authorities in Wales. The Council has taken a series of steps to strengthen its performance management arrangements over the past 18 months, including the introduction of performance challenge sessions, half-year strategic assessments drawing together performance information from a wide range of sources, improved data visualisation and enhancing role of this committees Performance Panel. Taken together, these measures ensure that the Council is well positioned to respond to the new requirements of the Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021.
43. The Council proposes responding to the new performance requirements, build on recent improvements in corporate performance reporting and management by introducing a new Performance Management Framework alongside a new Data Strategy for the Council. This will form part of a new approach to enhance the use of data in service management and service improvement, with the Council investing in enhanced data management and analytical capacity.
44. Staff engagement - the report proposes a programme of staff engagement over the summer of 2021, including staff conference to thank all Council staff for their work over the course of the pandemic and to begin engagement on the recovery and renewal programme, followed by an all-staff survey and a series of focus groups to help inform the development of the 'hybrid working' model.
45. Members' attention is drawn to the Financial Implications at points 67-69, Legal Implications at points 70-75, HR implications at point 76-79 and Property Implications at points 80-81

Proposed Recommendations to Cabinet

46. The report recommends that Cabinet:
- Approve the establishment of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal programme, to be reviewed after 12 months.
 - Delegate authority to the Chief Executive, in consultation with the Leader and Cabinet Member for Finance, Modernisation and Performance, to:

- a. Commence a programme of trade union and staff engagement on the development of a 'hybrid working' model.
 - b. Undertake a review of the Council's relevant employee policy requirements, including the Homeworking Policy and the associated Agile Working policies, to ensure that they support the shift to a 'hybrid working' model with details of the review being reported back to Cabinet
 - c. Establish recovery plans for services that continue to be disrupted, or whose business model has been fundamentally challenged, by the pandemic.
 - d. Oversee a post-pandemic review of all services to ensure that they are able to operate safely, effectively and efficiently in the new operating environment, including identifying a programme of further service digitisation.
 - e. Deploy resources within the budgetary framework to support the delivery of the proposals outlined in this report.
- Delegate authority to the Director of Economic Development, in consultation with the Cabinet Member for Investment and Development and Section 151 Officer to undertake a fundamental review of the Council's core office accommodation and depot accommodation through a detailed business case process and to report back to a future meeting of Cabinet.
- Delegate authority to the Corporate Director for People and Communities, in consultation with the Leader and Cabinet Member for Social Care, Health and Wellbeing, to:
 - a. Accelerate the development of a multi-agency 'locality working' model, focused on health and care services.
 - b. Explore new partnership arrangements for Public Health with the Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, under the auspices of the Cardiff Public Services Board.
 - c. Undertake a review of the Council's public services partnership arrangements to ensure that they can support the continuation of enhanced levels of multi-agency working.

Way Forward

47. The Leader of the Council, Councillor Huw Thomas; Cabinet Member Modernisation and Performance, Councillor Chris Weaver; the Chief Executive, Paul Orders; Corporate Director for People and Communities, Sarah McGill; Corporate Director Resources, Chris Lee; and Head of Performance and Partnerships, Gareth Newell; will attend to present the report and to take questions from Members.

Legal Implications

48. The Scrutiny Committee is empowered to enquire, consider, review and recommend but not to make policy decisions. As the recommendations in this report are to consider and review matters there are no direct legal implications. However, legal implications may arise if and when the matters under review are implemented with or without any modifications. Any report with recommendations for decision that goes to Cabinet/Council will set out any legal implications arising from those recommendations. All decisions taken by or on behalf the Council must (a) be within the legal powers of the Council; (b) comply with any procedural requirement imposed by law; (c) be within the powers of the body or person exercising powers of behalf of the Council; (d) be undertaken in accordance with the procedural requirements imposed by the Council e.g. Scrutiny Procedure Rules; (e) be fully and properly informed; (f) be properly motivated; (g) be taken having regard to the Council's fiduciary duty to its taxpayers; and (h) be reasonable and proper in all the circumstances.

Financial Implications

49. The Scrutiny Committee is empowered to enquire, consider, review and recommend but not to make policy decisions. As the recommendations in this report are to consider and review matters there are no direct financial implications at this stage in relation to any of the work programme. However, financial implications may arise if and when the matters under review are implemented with or without any modifications. Any report with recommendations for decision that goes to Cabinet/Council will set out any financial implications arising from those recommendations.

RECOMMENDATION

The Panel is recommended to:

- i) Consider the information in these two reports, and the information provided during the meeting; and
- ii) Determine whether they would like to make any comments, observations or recommendations to the Cabinet on this matter in time for its meeting on 20 May 2021.

CABINET MEETING: 20 MAY 2021

CAPITAL AMBITION: RECOVERY AND RENEWAL

LEADER (COUNCILLOR HUW THOMAS)

AGENDA ITEM: 2

Reason for this Report

1. This report provides an overview of the Council's approach to recovery and renewal and outlines how the Council will seek to adapt to the challenges and opportunities of the new operating environment as the city emerges from the current phase of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Background

2. The Covid-19 pandemic has presented the biggest challenge to public services and to the life of the city in a generation. Over the course of the crisis the Council has played a vital role, both in terms of delivering vital services, particularly to the city's most vulnerable residents, and through civic leadership, convening a coalition of public, private and third sector partners and leading a whole-city response to the crisis.
3. The latest data published by Public Health Wales and Office for National Statistics (ONS) shows that case rates in Cardiff have fallen steadily since the peak earlier this year and are now 15.5 per 100,000 population over the 7-day period to 14 May 2021 and test positivity is at 1.5%.
4. In response to the improving public health situation, the Welsh Government is implementing a gradual easing of lockdown restrictions in accordance with their Coronavirus Control Plan, with the return of almost all aspects of city life and public services expected over the coming months. Although it is anticipated that some social distancing requirements will remain in place for the remainder of 2021, it is hoped that the current lockdown will be the last, and that the UK will enter a period of stability. Cardiff is therefore on the verge of entering a new 'post-Covid-19' operating environment, which will present new risks, new challenges and new opportunities for the city and for its public services.
5. The Cabinet wishes to respond proactively to these new challenges and opportunities, building on the culture of service innovation, the unprecedented levels of cross-council and partnership working with the public and private sectors, and the dynamism, commitment and care shown by all council staff, key workers, citizens and communities during the pandemic.

Recovery and Renewal

6. The Council has continued to use the 'Restart, Recover, Renew' framework, approved by Cabinet in June 2020, to guide its planning for restarting services and for identifying medium and longer term priorities for recovery and renewal.
7. As restrictions have been eased Council services have restarted or have been adapting to enable the Council to operate in a Covid-secure manner for staff and citizens. As before, this has followed a disciplined and co-ordinated corporate process, consistent with the legislation and the latest Public Health Wales advice.
8. In addition, a series of immediate and short term actions needed to continue to manage the pandemic and respond to the easing of lockdown restrictions were agreed by Cabinet in February, including:
 - a. Ongoing pandemic management, including strengthening the Test, Trace, Protect Service and supporting the city's vaccination programme.
 - b. Re-opening schools for all learners and re-engaging children and young people.
 - c. Supporting businesses and workers
9. A comprehensive recovery planning exercise was undertaken as part of the development of the Corporate Plan 2021-24, which contains priorities for service recovery over the medium term, and was approved by Council in March 2021.
10. Looking to the medium to longer term the Covid-19 pandemic will lead to significant shifts in the way in which people live, work and travel, and create new challenges and opportunities for the city economy and for local public services. Recognising this, the Cabinet committed in February 2021 to a programme of 'city renewal' to set out how the Council would work with city partners to lead a greener, fairer recovery. To begin this process, Cabinet commissioned four 'Recovery and Renewal' reports to consider how the pandemic has impacted life in the city and to identify a series of proposals that could underpin long term renewal. These reports are presented to Cabinet alongside this report, and include:

Organisational Recovery and Renewal

11. This report sets out the Council's principles for guiding how local public services need to change in response to the new, post-covid-19 operating environment, and identifies priority areas for action. These include:

- The development and adoption of 'hybrid working' model, building on the successful shift to home working, at scale and speed, seen during the pandemic.
 - The acceleration of the Council's digital programme, responding to the shift in citizen expectations in relation to accessing services online and the ICT infrastructures, support and process digitisation required to support agile working.
 - A strengthening of partnership arrangements, to ensure that the breadth and dynamism of joint working between the city's public services continues, focussed on ongoing pandemic management, a closer working relationship on wider public health issues and ensuring a strong and effective partnership response to the complex issues that will arise as a result of the pandemic.
 - The development of a 'locality working' model, responding to the desire for greater access to services locally, and rebuilding integrated local public services in a way that responds to the needs and strengths of local communities.
 - Leading a greener, fairer recovery through ensuring that the Council's spending and organisational policies, practice and partnerships are leveraged for maximum social and environmental gain.
 - Ensuring arrangements are in place for the recovery of all services, particularly those most impacted by the pandemic and any ongoing restrictions.
12. The report also outlines arrangements for the recovery and effective delivery of all core council services, supported by robust financial and performance management.

Greener, Fairer, Stronger: City Recovery and Renewal

13. As lockdown restrictions are eased the city economy will begin to return to life. Sectors such as retail, hospitality and leisure, and areas such as the city centre, will soon be able to operate for the first time since December 2020.
14. Over the medium and longer term, it is anticipated that the crisis will have a major impact on cities and reshape the structure of the city economies.
15. The report identifies the action that the Council will take with partners to ensure that the restart of the city economy is achieved safely and successfully. It also sets out the longer term shifts that the city's economy may have to respond to as a result of the pandemic, and proposes a series of 'key missions' and projects that the Council could take forward, including:
- Mission 1: Reimagining the city centre
 - Mission 2: A city for everyone
 - Mission 3: A city of Villages
 - Mission 4: A culture and sport led renewal
 - Mission 5: A Tech City
 - Mission 6: A One Planet recovery

Delivering a Child Friendly Recovery

16. The lives of all children and young people have been disrupted by the pandemic, with more vulnerable children particularly impacted. As the city emerges from the Covid-19 crisis, the Council is committed to putting the voice, needs and rights of children and young people at the heart of the recovery and renewal programme, and seeks to create a city where all young people are safe, healthy, happy and able to share in the city's success.
17. This report identifies the short and medium to longer term actions that will be delivered across Council service areas and with partners in the public, private, higher education and community sectors. These actions address the needs of all children and young people in Cardiff, from those who will access enhanced universal services through to those requiring specialist safeguarding and mental health services.
18. In addition to ensuring that services specifically for young people securing a Child Friendly Recovery will also require ensuring that the voice of young people is heard in all aspects of recovery and renewal. The report therefore also sets out how children and young people will engage with the 'Greener, Fairer, Stronger: City Recovery and Renewal' strategy and the 'One Planet Cardiff' response to the climate emergency and how the Council will work in partnership with children, young people and families to refresh and publish a new, post-pandemic, Child Friendly Strategy in the autumn of 2021.

A One Planet Recovery

19. Following the approval by Cabinet in October 2020 of the One Planet Cardiff vision this report provides an update on progress to date, including immediate and short-term actions and commitments, and to report on feedback from public consultation. This report will be followed by a final One Planet Cardiff strategy and action plan to be brought to Cabinet for approval in autumn 2021.

Consultation and Engagement

20. A programme of engagement with the public, city stakeholders and public service partners, staff and trade unions on the Council's recovery and renewal proposals will be conducted over the summer, with the results reported back to Cabinet in the autumn. This will include:
 - engagement with staff, trade unions and public services partners on the changes to the Council's operating model, including a specific engagement programme on the development of a 'hybrid working' model (as set out in the Capital Ambition: Organisational Recovery and Renewal report).
 - engagement with the public and city stakeholders, including children and young people, on the future of Cardiff's economy and city development priorities (as set out in the Greener, Fairer, Stronger: Draft City Recovery and Renewal report).

Reason for Recommendations

21. To provide Cabinet with an overview of the Council's approach to recovery and renewal

Financial Implications

22. This report sets out the overall context of the four accompanying strategic recovery reports. Each report outlines a series of activities and objectives which set out the overall strategic direction over the forthcoming months. Prior to implementation of these activities, assurance needs to be obtained that costs are all identified associated with adequate funding and that all risks are identified and managed in order to ensure delivery. Reference is made to engagement and any associated costs with these events will need to be found from within existing financial allocations or external funding.

Legal Implications

23. There are no direct legal implications arising from the recommendations of this report.

HR Implications

24. This report sets out a recommendation for a programme of engagement events including those with Trade Unions and staff. These events will be programmed and designed in order to ensure the widest possible coverage and using a variety of methodologies.

Property Implications

25. There are no direct property implications arising from this report.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Cabinet is recommended to note the content of the report and the proposed engagement programme.

CABINET MEETING: 20 MAY 2021

CAPITAL AMBITION: ORGANISATIONAL RECOVERY AND RENEWAL

LEADER (COUNCILLOR HUW THOMAS)

AGENDA ITEM: 3

Reason for this Report

1. As part of the Cabinet's Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal agenda this report:
 - a. Outlines how the Council will seek to adapt to the challenges and opportunities of the new operating environment as the city emerges from the current phase of the pandemic.
 - b. Seeks approval for the establishment of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal Programme.
2. The report also seeks approval for the steps needed to deliver the programme, including:
 - a. The commencement of a programme of trade union and staff engagement including the proposed shift to adopting a 'hybrid working' model.
 - b. An in principle agreement of the need for a fundamental review of the Council's core office, locality and depot accommodation to be undertaken, with a detailed business case for each to be presented back to a future meeting of Cabinet for approval.
 - c. A review of the Council's relevant employee policy requirements, including the Homeworking Policy and the associated Agile Working policies, to ensure that they support the shift to a 'hybrid working' model.
 - d. A review of partnership arrangements to ensure that they can support the continuation of enhanced levels of multi-agency working.
 - e. Exploring the development a strengthened partnership approach to Public Health with Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, reporting to the Cardiff Public Services Board.
 - f. The acceleration of the development of a multi-agency 'locality working' model.
 - g. The establishment and monitoring the delivery of recovery plans for services that continue to be disrupted, or whose business model has been fundamentally challenged, by the pandemic.

- h. A post-pandemic review of all services to ensure that they are able to operate safely, effectively and efficiently in the new operating environment, including identifying opportunities for digitisation and for services to be provided online.

Background

- 3. The Covid-19 pandemic has presented the biggest challenge to local public services in a generation and has led to rapid and significant changes to the way in which the Council and its partners deliver services. As the public health situation continues to improve Cardiff is on the verge of entering a new 'post-Covid-19' operating environment, which will bring with it new risks, new challenges and new opportunities for local public services. As the Council enters this new environment the Cabinet wishes for the culture of service innovation, the unprecedented levels of cross-council and public service integration and the dynamism, commitment and care shown by all council staff during the pandemic to be central to the organisation's recovery and renewal.

Capital Ambition: Principles for Organisational Recovery and Renewal

- 4. The Council has identified the following 10 principles that will help to inform how local public services will change as a result of the pandemic:
 - i. Child, family, citizen at the centre – the pandemic has challenged old ways of working and existing service models. In rebuilding local public services, the needs and strengths of those receiving the service will be – at all times – front and centre.
 - ii. Community/Locality-focussed – the pandemic has led to a rediscovery of 'the local' and increased demand for local services. It has also had a differential impact across the city. In the future, services need to respond to the different challenges faced by communities across the city, bringing public service assets and resources together to create 'teams around the community'.
 - iii. Flexibility – the Council's response has been defined by the ability to act quickly and flexibly, with a focus on outcomes over process or presenteeism, and radical change enacted swiftly and effectively across organisational and service boundaries.
 - iv. Partnership - the Covid-19 crisis has demanded – and continues to demand – a whole-system response from the city's public services. The Council will continue to convene a city-wide recovery and renewal, with the scale and depth of the partnership working seen in the pandemic becoming business as usual.
 - v. Prevention over cure – the pandemic has exposed deep structural inequalities between communities and demographic groups in the economy, in health and wellbeing and access to services. The Council will focus on tackling the root cause of problems, so often linked to poverty and inequality, and wherever possible act early to prevent problems occurring or getting worse.

- vi. Digital by Default – the shift towards online access to services seen in the pandemic will continue across all sectors. The Council will adopt a ‘Digital by Default’ approach, providing access to an enhanced range of services online where all those who can use digital routes to service choose to do so.
- vii. Data and evidence-led - the city’s pandemic response has relied on the rapid, robust collection, presentation and analysis of real-time data across the public service system to inform decision making. The Council will embed this shift in practice, strengthening its approach to corporate performance management and insight into both existing improvement priorities and the dynamic and complex new issues that will arise as a result of the pandemic.
- viii. Service innovation - the crisis has catalysed greater service innovation within the Council and across the public service system, with what would before have been seen as radical solutions implemented across partnerships, at speed. The Council wishes to ensure that the attitude of bold and creative approach to problem solving and improving services is central to the way local services are designed and delivered post-pandemic.
- ix. One Planet Council: Covid-19 has brought the importance of city resilience to shocks and risks to the fore. The Council has declared a climate emergency, and has set ambitious targets for decarbonisation in the One Planet Cardiff vision. Post-pandemic the Council will look to maximise environmental impact as an anchor employer and use the power of its organisational policies, practice and partnerships to lead a greener recovery and renewal.
- x. Leading an inclusive economic recovery: the Covid crisis has led to the most severe recession in living memory, with the greatest impact felt by those living in deprived communities, young people, women and the city’s ethnic minority communities. As the city economy enters a period of re-opening and recovery the impact of the Council’s investment programme, accommodation strategy, organisational policies and spending on the local economy needs to be maximised, particularly in support of those hit hardest by the pandemic.

Recovery and Renewal

- 5. In order to provide strategic focus on the changes that the Council will need to make to the way it works in response to the pandemic, a ‘Recovery and Renewal Programme’ will be established. Given the uncertain environment within which the Council will be operating it is proposed that this be subject to review after a 12 month period. The priority areas for action are set out below:

Adopting a Hybrid Working model

6. As the UK entered its first lockdown on 23 March 2020, in order to ensure the safety of staff and citizens and to slow the spread of the virus, the Council transitioned to a 'work from home' model for staff not working in critical front line services. Despite being one of the most challenging periods in memory for public services the Council has continued to operate effectively with a substantial proportion of non-front line staff working from home, with services and corporate functions continuing to function well and, in many cases, significant service change designed and implemented at speed.
7. In support of the transition to this new way of working the technology infrastructures, equipment and services needed to enable home working were rolled out rapidly and supported effectively by the Council's ICT team, and have been adopted by staff across the wide range of professional disciplines within the Council.
8. Feedback received from managers and staff indicates that overall arrangements have worked well, with discussions, meetings and productivity being maintained (and in some cases enhanced). This has also required an accompanying adoption by managers of management by outcome over 'presenteeism.' Staff feedback has also suggested that home working provides a better work/life balance for those who are able to do it, particularly those with caring responsibilities. Furthermore, sickness rates have reduced significantly in those departments who have adopted working from home at scale.
9. The use of video conferencing and remote/virtual meetings has created new opportunities for staff engagement, with, for example, over 400 staff attending a management forum event, and those who were not able to attend such events being able to catch up by viewing a recording of the event, with staff feedback being very positive.
10. Working with partners, within the city and beyond, has also been accelerated through the use of video conferencing, with the absence of a need to co-ordinate diaries, organise travel and meeting rooms meaning that multi-agency meetings could be organised quickly and take place frequently. Similarly, engagement in Wales and UK-wide meetings and networks has become more efficient, with meetings arranged at speed and no requirement for travel.
11. The Council's democratic governance has continued to operate effectively online over the course of the pandemic. Full Council meetings, Cabinet and Scrutiny meetings have all transitioned to video conference with meetings continuing to be webcast for public viewing. Audit Wales reported, following their work observing the Council's pandemic response and recovery that 'members have adapted well to the use of remote technology and chairing the meetings has been effective.'
12. The adoption of agile working has already allowed the Council to reconsider and streamline its core office accommodation requirements.

In November 2020 the Council chose not to renew the lease on Wilcox House, and to relocate staff to County Hall or to agile/home working arrangements. This has reduced the Council's accommodation footprint by c 60,000 sq.ft. and released costs of c.£1.5m.

13. More broadly the reduction in staff commutes and journeys to work by car has also saved staff time spent in the car, reduced the Council's carbon footprint, contributed to the Council's clean air agenda and, if maintained, will also help to reduce congestion on the city's roads, particularly at peak hours. Increased levels of home and agile working are also seen as important levers for increasing spend and economic activity across all communities and in driving the recovery of district centres.
14. A number of challenges have been identified with greater home and agile working:
 - a. Feedback from staff indicates that while team meetings and partnership meetings are considered to be operating effectively, meetings which require creative thinking and problem solving, relying on a more free-flowing or organic discussion, can prove more challenging online than face-to-face communication.
 - b. The loss of personal interaction between staff could make it more difficult to build relationships upon which teamwork and successful delivery often depends. The opportunity for staff to build the networks that can support their work and their career development may also be hampered. This could be particularly challenging for those employees who have recently joined the Council or younger people beginning their careers.
 - c. It is recognised that there needs to be a greater understanding and time management regarding meetings when working from home and that continuous Teams meetings should be avoided. The Council produced a 'Homeworking Etiquette' guide at the beginning of the pandemic to provide guidance to both staff and managers. There is also training being piloted on this subject for both staff and managers.
 - d. Home environments must be both safe and appropriate for work. This can present challenges for certain groups of people, including people living in houses of multiple occupation, often young people, or those who do not have access to office or work space in their home or those who may feel lonely or isolated working at home alone for extended periods of time.
 - e. While offering the opportunity for better work/life balance and more flexibility in the working day, there is a danger that those working from home may experience a 'blurring of the lines' between their work and home lives. As a result, longer working hours or the inability to 'switch off' from work, particularly due to Teams and/or Outlook notifications on personal mobile devices, also represents a risk to employee well-being.

15. In responding to the successful shift to home working seen during the pandemic, and the opportunities and challenges this new way of working presents, the Council is proposing to adopt a two phase approach.
16. Over the short term, the current arrangements for home and agile working will be maintained for the remainder of the 2021 calendar year. This approach is in line with the Cabinet's pandemic management priorities of keeping staff and citizens safe and limiting the spread of Covid-19, and responds to the likelihood that the Workplace Regulations relating to physical distancing will be in place until at least Autumn 2021.
17. To ensure that office environments are safe and adhere to the requirement for improved levels of ventilation there will be a re-assessment of work spaces in core office accommodation with maximum occupancy numbers for each office assigned. This will limit the potential occupancy of core offices, and so priority will be given to those staff whose return to an office environment is considered by services to be essential.
18. Looking further ahead to a point when physical distancing will no longer be required the Council does not intend to revert back to the pre-pandemic office footprint and 'traditional' staff office working patterns. Instead a new 'hybrid' model that seeks to maintain the benefits of increased home and flexible working arrangements experienced over the past year, whilst mitigating the risks identified above, will be developed. The development and implementation of this 'hybrid' model will combine a higher level of home working for those who are able with the option for some office working or attendance each week.
19. In doing so, four broad categories have been identified against which all roles within the Council will be assessed:
 - A. Fixed location: Employees who needs to be at the same location or desk every day, including frontline workers who commence from a set base.
 - B. Flexible/Agile: Employees who will have an office base, but may work from home or spend time out of the office base, meeting service users or partners. On average, it is anticipated that agile workers would be in the office for 2 days a week and that these days would be flexible, depending on work requirements.
 - C. Home-based: Employees who commence and end their work at their home, but are mobile throughout the day.
 - D. Home: Employees who perform 100% of their duties from their home.
20. In this proposed 'hybrid' working model, only fixed location employees would have a permanent desk, workstation or personal work-space. All other employees would have access to a desk, initially via an online booking form, in the Council's core office buildings, with meeting facilities, interview/customer rooms and collaboration spaces also being available via an online booking system.

21. To ensure that those staff working from home are working in safe and appropriate environments, all home workers and a number of home-based and flexible workers will be required to have regular health and safety assessments. Employees who are currently working from home have undertaken self-assessments to review their workstation area, and any staff with a medical condition and/or physical disability have undergone a remote assessment via Occupational Health. Home working assessments will be repeated at an appropriate frequency determined by the risk involved.
22. It is proposed that all employee roles will be allocated into a category, and that this process will be led by service directors and managers in consultation with individual employees. Once a role is defined, staff will be able to request being switched between categories; however, this must be in line with service requirements and agreed by service manager and staff members. Any staff with physical or mental health requirements that make home or agile working challenging will be prioritised and appropriate office or work spaces allocated to them. Similarly managers will have the ability to arrange for appropriate arrangements to be put in place for those employees who, for a variety of reasons, find home working challenging.
23. Based on the discussions, outlined in the paragraph above, staff will have a mutual change to their terms and conditions so that their base of work is identified for contractual purposes. Any change will be through mutual consent. Full trade union consultation will take place on this proposal.
24. To support this process there will be a review of the Council's relevant employee policy requirements, including the Homeworking Policy and the associated Agile Working policies, to ensure that they support the shift to a 'hybrid working' model with details of the review being reported back to Cabinet
25. In addition to core office buildings, a network of community 'touch down' points and remote working hubs will be developed based in Council or partner buildings in communities across the city that will contain flexible desk space, meeting rooms and collaboration spaces that can be booked online. The establishment of these 'touch down' points/spaces will be developed in tandem with the focus on 'locality working' in partnership with other major public service providers and support the regeneration of local community and district hubs.
26. As a result of the adoption of 'hybrid working' the nature and scale of the Council's accommodation footprint will need to be reviewed, and where appropriate rationalised, adapted or modernised. The Council will therefore need to undertake a fundamental review of its office and depot accommodation requirement, with detailed business cases for both presented back to Cabinet for consideration.

27. The transition to an agile working model during the pandemic has been enabled by the Council's investment in digital infrastructures, services and skills. This will need to be continued in order to support the roll-out of agile working at scale post-pandemic, including the allocation of agile working devices and investment in meeting room facilities, 'touch down' points, and desk booking and utilisation technology.

Accelerating the Council's Digital Programme

28. The Administration's 'Capital Ambition' commitments prioritised the adoption of new digital technology to improve access to services, manage increasing demand and release financial savings. This agenda was given impetus with the appointment of a Chief Digital Officer, the publication of a new Digital Strategy (Digital Ambition) and a major programme of investment in the Council's ICT infrastructure.
29. This investment in digital infrastructure, services and skills meant that the Council was well-placed to respond to the shift to digital and online working necessitated by the pandemic. It also allowed the Council to lead on a number of city-wide and national digital initiatives in responding to the pandemic, most notably in supporting the rapid creation of the Cardiff and Vale Test, Trace, Protect (TTP) service and providing ICT support to the city's vaccination programme.
30. It is anticipated that the shift towards online activities and digital service delivery will continue to accelerate post-pandemic. Citizen expectation and familiarity with "digital" has increased, with "new adopters" of digital services, previously seen as unable or unwilling to access services online having their preference has shifted out of necessity. A core component of the 'Recovery and Renewal' programme will therefore be an acceleration of the Council's digital agenda, including:
- Supporting the 'hybrid working' model: The implementation of the digital infrastructure necessary to accommodate home and agile working at scale had begun prior the pandemic, with the mass rollout of enabling software such as Office 365. Over 62% of Council staff are now equipped with mobile devices, allowing them to work from home, touchdown points or remotely across the city. The adoption of a 'hybrid working' model will need to be supported by both providing the infrastructure and services needed to support those working from home and in modernising the services available in core office and touch-down accommodation.
 - Online Access to Services: The Council's successful delivery of channel shift towards digital routes was expanded during the pandemic, including new online applications developed for business grants; the provision of Free Schools Meals payments; the ability to report rough sleeping; and to donate to the Cardiff Food Appeal and Hardship Fund. The Cardiff App was also enhanced during the pandemic, including the ability to book appointments at Household Waste Recycling Centres, bulky waste collection and reporting missed waste collections. Providing access to an enhanced range of services online will therefore continue to be a priority post-pandemic, with the adoption of a 'Digital by Default' principal, where all those who can use digital routes to service choose to do so. For those who cannot access or choose not to access services via online routes the Council will seek to ensure that alternative channels – particularly face-to-face – are available.

- Process digitisation and the 'paperless office': Greater home and agile working will create opportunities to digitise back office processes, with the 'paperless office' becoming the norm.
- Enhanced Use of Artificial Intelligence: The Council has been a sector leader in the application of Artificial Intelligence in customer services, notably the introduction of the Council's Chabot, BOBi, with high customer satisfaction and usage outside of core C2C office hours.
- Real time data collection, presentation and analysis: The city's pandemic response has relied on the rapid, robust collection, presentation and analysis of real time data across the public service system to inform decision making. The Council will embed this shift in practice to significantly strengthen its approach to corporate performance management and insight.

31. As part of a wider review of services post-pandemic, all services will be asked to identify further opportunities for digitisation and businesses cases developed for consideration.

Convening and leading city-wide response to recovery and renewal

32. The Covid-19 crisis has had a major disruptive impact on every aspect of city life, public services and every industry and sector of the city's economy. The complex challenges presented by the pandemic cannot be met by one organisation, sector or public service acting alone, and so the Covid-19 crisis has demanded – and continues to demand – a whole-system response from the city's public services.
33. From the very beginning of the crisis Cardiff adopted a partnership approach. The past 12 months has seen joint working between the city's public service on an unprecedented a depth and scale, led by the Cardiff Public Services Board (PSB) chaired by the Leader of the Council.
34. New partnership services have been created, at scale and speed, including the TTP service, joint working on initiatives including the mass vaccination programme, the creation of the Dragon's Heart Hospital at Principality Stadium, the approach to reducing homelessness and rough sleeping and the joint enforcement team. The crisis has also catalysed greater service innovation across public service systems, particularly for complex issues, with radical solutions requiring fundamental service redesign and reform being identified, agreed and delivered. This has relied on the allocation of resources and staffing across the system to where they were needed most urgently. New partnership governance arrangements to enable rapid and robust decision making have been established which, allied to a culture of joint working built on well-established relationships at a leadership and operational level, has overcome service and organisational boundaries.

35. Looking to the future, the continued management of the pandemic and many of the most complex problems facing public services in the post-Covid environment will require the same level of partnership commitment and action. In the immediate term, this will include the continuation of the TTP service, with Cardiff Council hosting the national surge team for Wales; the continued rollout of the mass vaccination programme, including the potential for further booster shots in the autumn; and the critical role of responding to increased international travel and any outbreaks of 'variants of concern'.
36. More broadly, the strengthened partnership arrangements and joint working will be required in order to respond to increased demand and new, complex issues that will arise as the city emerges from this phase of the pandemic. This includes: building on the progress made in integrating health and social care services and responding to the impact of 'long-Covid; embedding and building upon the new approach to homelessness and rough sleeping; responding to the increase in poor child and adult mental health; increases in family breakdown and a rise in the number of children in need of support; and a wide range of community safety, cohesion and safeguarding issues.
37. To ensure that the city's public service partnership governance arrangements are fit for purpose for meeting the complex multi-agency challenges that the city's public services will face over the coming years it is proposed that the partnership governance arrangements supporting the Cardiff PSB are reviewed and refreshed, aligned with the statutory requirement to undertake a Wellbeing Assessment in 2021/22 and prepare an updated Wellbeing Plan in 2022/23.
38. Given the challenges presented by the pandemic and the wider existing health inequalities between communities in Cardiff that the pandemic has exposed the Council and Cardiff & Vale University Health Board (UHB) will need to continue to work in close partnership on the city's public health agenda. This will include tackling inequalities in access to service that some communities face and working together on the wider social determinants of health that are critical to addressing health inequalities, including access to good housing, employment and education, and safe, clean and cohesion communities. In order to support and provide focus to this work the Council will explore with Cardiff and Vale UHB a new Public Health-focussed partnership board, reporting the Cardiff PSB.
39. The crisis has also seen the emergence of a strengthened partnership with businesses across the city economy. Nowhere has this been more apparent, and nowhere will it be more important over the year ahead given the challenges faced, than in the city centre and the partnership with FOR Cardiff.

40. Higher Education has been amongst the most disrupted sectors in the city economy. Over the past year a strong partnership approach has been in place between the TTP service and the city's colleges and universities in order to help management of the pandemic. This will need to continue over the coming 12 months, in particular as a new cohort of students arrive in the city in early autumn. More broadly, the role of the city's Universities as an anchor institutions, major employers, attractors of students and investment and sources of innovation and economic development needs to be enhanced. The Council will therefore explore the potential of new partnership arrangements between the Council and its higher education sector post-pandemic.
41. The social distancing and work from home measures in place as a result of the pandemic have radically altered the daily flows between the city and the city-region over the past 12 months. While it is as yet unclear how quickly dynamics such as daily commuter flows will return to pre-pandemic levels, or if they will at all, it remains likely that cities will remain the engines of regional economies, with highly skilled and highly productive companies clustered in urban centres, and of the arts and cultural production. The mutual dependence of the city and its surrounding region, and the partnership arrangements in place to manage this relationship, will remain of central importance to Cardiff's post pandemic economic recovery. Cardiff Council will therefore play an active leadership role in the development and establishment of a Corporate Joint Committee (CJC) for the Cardiff Capital Region over the year ahead. More broadly, given the challenges the Covid-19 pandemic has and will continue to present to cities, close working with the major cities of South Wales and the West of England, through the Western Gateway partnership, to unlock investment in strategic transport, innovation and energy infrastructures, will remain a priority.

Locality Working: Building cross-public services 'teams around the community'

42. Partnership working at a community level, across the public services and with communities, has been a feature of the work undertaken in response to the pandemic, in particular in health and social care services and in supporting older and more vulnerable people to live independently in their community. Allied to this, the 'stay home' and 'stay local' restrictions in place as a result of the pandemic has led to greater appreciation amongst citizens for the local areas and a greater demand for easy access to local services.
43. In response, the Council will work with partners to developing a 'locality working' model for planning and delivering services as the city emerges from the pandemic. This will involve close working with partners to bring to bear the combined assets and services in a community, including schools, health and care services, local policing and the third sector together to ensure that local public services are tailored to the needs and strengths of each person, and that are accessible in the local community. This approach will build upon the successful development of community and health and wellbeing hubs, with local multi-disciplinary teams, based in communities. In practice, this will be particularly important for the planning, assessment and delivery of care and support services for older people, for children and their families and for vulnerable adults and those with complex needs.

44. The Covid-19 pandemic has presented a severe health risk to and has had a major impact upon the lives of the city's older people. To meet the challenge the pandemic has presented, and to make sure that the city's older people can continue to access support safely, council services have been reshaped and additional care and support measures have been put in place, with partnership working and integration between the city's health and social care services taken to a new level.
45. Building on this, care and support will be joined up and delivered at home by default, allied to a greater level of specialist care and support delivered in communities. In doing so, the Council will build on the success of Cardiff's Independent Living Services to develop local community well-being services thereby reducing and preventing the need for care and hospital admissions. Where hospital admission is necessary, the Council will work in partnership with the Cardiff and Vale UHB to ensure that people can leave hospital quickly and safely, with the support and interventions necessary to do so.
46. The Council also recognises the importance of communities being designed in a way that accommodates the needs of older people, with housing options developed that enable people to live in their own homes and communities for as long as possible. The Council will therefore increase the provision of Extra Care housing, using this type of housing as an alternative to general residential care beds, alongside the supply of Community Living housing, which allows domiciliary care to be easily provided.
47. The pandemic has also had a major impact on the lives of the city's children and young people. To support the Council's Child Friendly City programme there will be the local join up of public services in communities, particularly for the city's most vulnerable children. This will involve the adoption of a 'team in the school' approach, with support and wellbeing services co-located in schools, including: youth workers, social workers, family support workers, school-based counselling and mental health services. To support the most vulnerable families, access to wider family support services will be closely aligned, including: early help & family support; domestic violence support; mental health services; and financial and housing advice and support.
48. A core component of the locality model will be increased integration of Council services, responding to local factors, in relation to improving local environmental quality. The development of a new 'Street Scene' model for cleansing and environmental enforcement will build on the new 4-day Recycling Services collections model by ensuring cleansing follows collections to provide a cleaner environment for communities. This will include servicing the city centre and key district centres on a 24/7 model and a balanced cleansing resource to manage demand throughout a normal city day. Furthermore, dedicated roles will be developed to support community based cleansing within the higher density areas of Cardiff. Alongside this, Love Where You Live will continue to develop and grow community groups and associated activities to bring residents back into the heart of their communities.

49. A locality model for service delivery also forms a core component of the Council's wider aspirations to be a '15 minute city,' where all people, but particularly children, vulnerable adults and older people, in all communities can travel safely by foot and by cycle to local public services, district centres with shops and community amenities, work spaces and high quality parks.

Leading a greener, fairer recovery

50. Capital Ambition already makes clear that the power of the Council's spending and organisational policies, practice and partnerships must be leveraged for maximum social and environmental gain. As the city economy enters a challenging period post-pandemic, the Council's power as a major employer, its spending power and its civic leadership will become of even greater importance.

51. As part of its economic recovery and renewal programme, the Council has set out the priorities and projects that will deliver investment and create jobs in the city economy over the short, medium and long term. This programme of capital investment will represent a crucial pipeline of investment and stimulus into the local economy. In addition, the Council will also seek to use the power of its policies, procurement and influence to accelerate fairer economic recovery, support local businesses and provide job opportunities to those most impacted by the pandemic, including:

- Delivering the Living Wage City initiative, paying the living wage to all employees and encouraging all employers to become living wage accredited;
- Enhancing the Council's apprenticeship scheme and participating in initiative such as the UK Government's 'Kickstart' scheme to open up employment opportunities in the Council to young people who would not otherwise have such opportunities;
- Establishing social clauses within all major council contracts to maximise local job creation and support local supply chains, including maximising the impact of the Council's capital programme- which includes school building, housebuilding and investment in local hubs- on the local economy.

52. In response to the climate emergency the Council will also adapt its own organisational policies and practice to lead Cardiff's transition to a low carbon economy. Measures will include:

- Increasing the uptake of hybrid working and active travel amongst staff;

- The transition of the Council's fleet to low carbon and electric vehicles;
 - Retrofitting street lighting with more sustainable LED technology;
 - Adopting digital technologies and smart metering to better manage energy usage in council buildings;
 - The use of council owned land for increased biodiversity and renewable energy production;
 - Removing all single use plastics from council venues; and
 - Pursuing the continued divestment from fossil fuels from the Cardiff and Vale Investment Fund and working with partners to support divestment across the city.
53. In 2020 the Leader of the Council established a Race Equality Task Force to tackle the inequalities faced by Cardiff's ethnic communities, many of which will have been deepened by the public health crisis and emerging economic crisis. The Council will work with the Task Force over the year ahead on the implementation of its recommendations, in particular to the organisational policies that can provide greater opportunities and support for people from the city's ethnic minority communities.

Service Recovery

54. In the short to medium term, as lockdown restrictions are eased in line with the Welsh Government's Coronavirus Control Plan, it is anticipated that most council services will be able to reopen, albeit in some cases in an adapted form. The Council will continue to adopt the safe and disciplined approach to reopening services in place through the pandemic. In doing so, the Council will focus on ensuring that the performance levels of core services, as set out in the Council's Corporate Plan, are maintained through the recovery period.
55. It remains likely that for the remainder of 2021 and perhaps beyond, council services will have to continue to operate with some social distancing measures in place. These restrictions will continue to significantly disrupt the delivery model for a limited number of services, notably face-to-face services and those in the leisure, culture and visitor economies. For each of these services, recovery plans have been developed to put the service back on a sustainable footing.
56. Similarly, known budget hotspots, particularly in areas which will see increased demand as a result of the pandemic or those reliant on income streams impacted by the pandemic will receive targeted intervention to support service transformation.
57. More broadly, the pandemic will have created new challenges and opportunities for every council service. A corporate exercise to identify the impact of the pandemic and the adaptations required for all services will be undertaken by Directorates of the course of the summer.

Robust Financial and Performance Management

Continued focus on efficiencies and 'hot-spot' services

58. The Council's Budget Strategy for 2021/22 approved by Council in March 2021 included the most up to date Medium Term Financial Planning assumptions and suggested a budget gap cumulatively over the next four years of £85M (to 2025/26). There is a need therefore to continue to identify new opportunities for delivering efficiency and a significant driver for this must be transformation across services, especially where the benefits from new service delivery models post pandemic can be maximised.
59. As part of a review and refresh of current arrangements, additional support will be provided to ensure that all 2021/22 savings are delivered as planned and all budget 'hotspots' are targeted early and effectively through robust budget monitoring to ensure that mitigating actions as appropriate can be taken in-year.
60. The pandemic clearly dominated the early part of last financial year, but with working systems now established and recovery plans being put in place there is a greater opportunity earlier in this new financial year to work across services to ensure that transformation and resultant efficiency proposals are identified. This will include working with services, for example through specific workforce planning initiatives, and in a cross-cutting nature across the Council to review opportunities, testing new ways of working, for example through more use of digital technology.

A strengthened approach to performance management and data analysis

61. As the Council enters a period of change, robust performance management arrangements will be of critical importance to ensure that services are continuing to deliver good outcomes for citizens, existing performance challenges are being addressed and that new programmes and services are having an impact. In addition, Part 6 of the Local Government and Elections Act (Wales) 2021, which came into force on 1 April 2021, introduced new and additional performance requirements on all local authorities in Wales.
62. In anticipation of the new national improvement framework, the Council has taken a series of steps to strengthen its performance management arrangements over the past 18 months. This has included the introduction of performance challenge sessions convened by the Leader and Chief Executive, half-year strategic assessments drawing together performance information from a wide range of sources, improved data visualisation and enhancing role of the Scrutiny Performance Panel. Taken together, these measures ensure that the Council is well positioned to respond to the new requirements of the Local Government and Elections (Wales) Act 2021. In response to the pandemic, a 'pandemic management' performance dashboard was also created at speed that allowed the Council to understand, on a daily and weekly basis, and actively manage the impact of the pandemic on critical services, including schools, care homes, the availability of PPE, community safety, domestic violence, bereavement services and workforce availability across all services.

63. To respond to the new performance requirements, build on the improvements in corporate performance reporting and management, and those enacted in response to the pandemic, a new Performance Management Framework will be brought forward alongside a new Data Strategy for the Council. This will form part of a new approach to enhance the use of data in service management and service improvement, with the Council investing in enhanced data management and analytical capacity.

Staff Engagement

64. The Recovery and Renewal priorities outlined in this report represent significant changes in practice and culture for the Council and its staff. The Cabinet recognises that for a great number of staff the past year will have been the most professionally and personally challenging year of their careers. Ensuring staff voices are heard in shaping the proposals over the coming months will therefore be vital in ensuring that the success and sustainability of the new ways of working that the Council wishes to adopt. A programme of staff engagement will be initiated, to run over the summer of 2021, including:
- a. A staff conference to thank all Council staff for their work over the course of the pandemic and to begin engagement on the recovery and renewal programme.
 - b. A staff survey and a series of focus groups to help inform the development of the 'hybrid working' model.

Scrutiny Consideration

65. The Policy Review & Performance Scrutiny Committee will consider this issue on 18 May 2021. Any comments received will be circulated at the Cabinet meeting.

Reason for Recommendations

66. To approve the establishment of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal Programme.

Financial Implications

67. This report sets out a series of actions and priorities. The Council approved 2021/22 Revenue and Capital Budget identified funding for many of the activities outlined in the body of the report, some of which will have already undertaken business cases and others will require the development of a robust business case. For each activity, all implementation costs and any associated ongoing revenue costs and funding sources need to be identified prior to delivery. Some projects will inevitably carry a degree of risk associated with delivery whether it be cost or timescale. Robust risk registers should be held at the appropriate service / project / programme level with a regular review in order to ensure that risks remain time appropriate along with the right risk mitigations being in place and being developed.

68. The report mentions the need for some services to continue to develop, review and update recovery plans for those services impacted by the pandemic. The recovery plans will give consideration to both different scenarios but also sensitivity analysis surrounding attendance and interaction with the services recovering. These plans will continue to be subject to regular review in order to ensure the plans and the risk reflect the current reality of the challenges being faced.
69. Transformation projects and consideration of the future accommodation solutions will all be subject to development of business cases, which set out likely costs and savings with consideration of timescales, risks and options.

Legal Implications

70. The report seeks approval of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal Programme, setting out priority areas for change in relation to the way the Council works in response to the post-Covid 19 operating environment, and the preparatory actions required to progress the Programme. Legal advice will be required throughout the planning and implementation of specific proposals within the Programme and the legal processes and formal decisions required.
71. The 'hybrid working' proposals raise employment law implications and consultation requirements. The report confirms that the proposals will be progressed with individual consultation and mutual consent, and accordingly, seeks authorisation to commence a programme of trade union and staff engagement. Legal advice will be provided as the proposals are progressed.
72. In considering this matter, Members must have regard to the Council's public sector equality duties under the Equality Act 2010. Pursuant to these legal duties Councils must, in making decisions, have due regard to the need to (1) eliminate unlawful discrimination, (2) advance equality of opportunity and (3) foster good relations on the basis of protected characteristics. Protected characteristics are: (a) Age, (b) Gender reassignment, (c) Sex, (d) Race – including ethnic or national origin, colour or nationality, (e) Disability, (f) Pregnancy and maternity, (g) Marriage and civil partnership, (h) Sexual orientation, (i) Religion or belief – including lack of belief.
73. When taking strategic decisions, the Council also has a statutory duty to have due regard to the need to reduce inequalities of outcome resulting from socio-economic disadvantage ('the Socio-Economic Duty' imposed under section 1 of the Equality Act 2010). In considering this, the Council must take into account the statutory guidance issued by the Welsh Ministers (WG42004 A More Equal Wales The Socio-economic Duty Equality Act 2010 \(gov.wales\)) and must be able to demonstrate how it has discharged its duty.

74. The Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act 2015 requires the Council to consider how its decisions will contribute towards meeting its well-being objectives (set out in the Corporate Plan). Members must also be satisfied that the Council's decisions comply with the sustainable development principle, which requires that the needs of the present are met without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs.
75. The Council must also be mindful of the Welsh Language (Wales) Measure 2011 and the Welsh Language Standards and consider the impact of its proposals upon the Welsh language.

HR Implications

76. There are significant and wide reaching HR implications for this report that are set out at various places within the report. It will be important that there is Trade Union consultation at all stages of the development of proposals within this report
77. Any staff engagement must use a methodology which allows staff to fully participate in the process and is relevant to the group of employees concerned.
78. It is proposed that any changes in contracts will be carried out in full consultation with the Trade Unions and through mutual consent with employees.
79. The development of the revisions to the current Homeworking Policy will be consulted on with Trade Unions, Managers and the Employee Equality Networks.

Property Implications

80. The report identifies several key recommendations that may directly or indirectly impact / influence the way Cardiff Council best utilises land and property in the future. The recommendations are not property specific in this report, however, it will be important for Strategic Estates / County Estates to be a key stakeholder in discussions and proposals arising from this paper to best advise on property matters. Cardiff Council is currently drafting a new Corporate Property Strategy and proposals within this report will align with the aims and objectives of the strategy, over both the short and medium term.
81. Any property transactions or valuations in respect of Recovery and Renewal as the Council seeks to adapt to the challenges and opportunities of the new Covid-19 pandemic operating environment, should be carried out in accordance with the Council's Asset Management process and in consultation with Strategic Estates and relevant service areas.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Cabinet is recommended to:

1. Approve the establishment of a Capital Ambition: Recovery and Renewal programme, based on the priorities outlined in this report, to be reviewed after 12 months.
2. Delegate authority to the Chief Executive, in consultation with the Leader and Cabinet Member for Finance, Modernisation and Performance, to:
 - a. Commence a programme of trade union and staff engagement on the development of a 'hybrid working' model.
 - b. Undertake a review of the Council's relevant employee policy requirements, including the Homeworking Policy and the associated agile working policies, to ensure that they support the shift to a 'hybrid working' model, with details of the review being reported back to Cabinet
 - c. Establish recovery plans for services that continue to be disrupted, or whose business model has been fundamentally challenged, by the pandemic.
 - d. Oversee a post-pandemic review of all services to ensure that they are able to operate safely, effectively and efficiently in the new operating environment, including identifying a programme of further service digitisation.
 - e. Deploy resources within the budgetary framework to support the delivery of the proposals outlined in this report.
3. Delegate authority to the Director of Economic Development, in consultation with the Cabinet Member for Investment and Development and Section 151 Officer to undertake a fundamental review of the Council's core office and depot accommodation through a detailed business case process and to report back to a future meeting of Cabinet.
4. Delegate authority to the Corporate Director for People and Communities, in consultation with the Leader and Cabinet Member for Social Care, Health and Wellbeing, to:
 - a. Accelerate the development of a multi-agency 'locality working' model, focused on health and care services.
 - b. Explore new partnership arrangements for Public Health with the Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, under the auspices of the Cardiff Public Services Board.
 - c. Undertake a review of the Council's public services partnership arrangements to ensure that they can support the continuation of enhanced levels of multi-agency working.
