Letter from the Director

Dear Applicant

Thank you for your interest in this exciting and challenging role.

Cardiff is the largest local authority in Wales and our schools are performing well across a wide range of key performance indicators. The collective commitment to educational improvement, articulated in the Cardiff 2020 strategy, has had a significant impact for Cardiff's children and young people. However, there is still much to do to fulfil the aspiration for all young people in Cardiff to attend a great school and be provided with every opportunity to succeed.

The Cardiff Annual Performance Report published in January each year provides an analysis of the educational outcomes of all learners, identifies the key strengths and areas for further development across the Foundation Phase, Key Stages 2 to 5 and in relation to attendance, exclusions and transition to education, employment a. Cardiff Council's Cabinet have set out in the Capital Ambition programme a clear vision for the future development and improvement of the city. High quality education is at the heart of that vision.

The Assistant Director is a highly visible role and the post holder will make a critical contribution to the delivery of the Council's ambitions, developing strong partnerships with school leaders and governors and ensuring high quality service provision to schools.

The role calls for strong professional leadership, excellent people and programme management skills, and the ability to communicate, negotiate and advocate with resilience and integrity.

You will be joining a Council with high ambitions, in a role which offers real scope to make a lasting difference for the people of Cardiff.

Nick Batchelar

Director of Education and Lifelong Learning

Education and Lifelong Learning Directorate Assistant Director Education and Lifelong Learning

Background

The Council and its partners outlined in 2016 a clear vision for education in the city in Cardiff 2020: a renewed vision for education and learning in Cardiff

"All children and young people in Cardiff attend a great school and develop the knowledge skills and characteristics that lead them to become personally successful, economically productive and actively engaged citizens."

There are five key goals to deliver Cardiff's aspiration:

- Excellent outcomes for all learners
- A high quality workforce
- 21st Century learning environments
- A self-improving school system
- Schools and Cardiff in partnership

The Council's Capital Ambition strategy places education at the heart of the city's future economic and social prosperity. In recent years there has been significant improvement in quality and standards in Cardiff schools, coupled with major investment in new school buildings under Band A of the 21st Century Schools Programme. This investment is set to increase under Band B, and as a result of developer contributions from new housing developments.

The collective commitment of a wide range of partners to educational improvement and to the future of our young people is now a distinctive strength of the city. Employers, further and higher education, the third sector, arts, sports and cultural organisations all play a role in making education 'Everybody's Business'.

One facet of this is Cardiff's commitment to becoming a Unicef Child Friendly City:

- with children and young people at its heart, where the voices, needs and rights of all children and young people are respected;
- where all children and young people, regardless of belief, ethnicity, background or wealth are safe, healthy, happy and able to share in the city's success.

School Performance

Overall, Cardiff schools are performing well across a wide range of key performance indicators. The collective commitment to educational improvement, articulated in the Cardiff 2020 strategy, has had a significant impact for Cardiff's children and young people. However, there is still much to do to fulfil the aspiration for all young people in Cardiff to attend a great school and be provided with every opportunity to succeed.

The Cardiff Annual Performance Report published in January each year provides an analysis of the educational outcomes of all learners, identifies the key strengths and areas for further development across the Foundation Phase, Key Stages 2 to 5 and in relation to attendance, exclusions and transition to education, employment and training.

There is a close working arrangement with the Central South Consortium through the team of Challenge Advisers working in Cardiff Schools. The impact of the partnership approach to school improvement is evidenced by the improved profile of Cardiff schools in relation to outcomes of Estyn inspections, as well as school categorisation. The Central South Consortium annual business plan identifies the priorities across the five local authorities and actions that will be taken to address these issues. All Cardiff schools are involved in School Improvement Groups (SIGs) and other school-school partnerships, to further develop the aspiration to be a self-improving school system.

Cardiff schools have participated fully in the preparations for the delivery of the new Wales Curriculum, with a number of primary, secondary and special schools identified as Pioneer schools. Cardiff recently hosted a very successful Curriculum Convention, with schools and partners from the world of business, health, further and higher education and third sector partners. This event, hosted by young people, provided an opportunity to showcase recent practice in curriculum development and to initiate a wider 'civic conversation' about the future role and purpose of education in Wales.

Through the Cardiff Commitment, good progress continues to be made in engaging employers across the city to support young people into the world of work. Over 140 employers have made pledges to support this key aspect of the city's growth. The Council itself is also actively increasing the range of opportunities for young people, including a new round of apprenticeships, traineeships and ongoing work placements. The Youth Service has been actively engaged in reducing the number of young people who do not make a successful transition at the age of 16 into further education, employment or training.

There has been a significant investment in the development of the education estate. Cardiff has benefitted greatly from the "Band A" investment of the 21st Century Schools Programme, with circa £164 million to expand the number of both English and Welsh medium places. Band A has delivered two new High Schools: Eastern High in collaboration with Cardiff & Vale College and Cardiff West Community High School, as well as six new primary schools.

Under Band B Cardiff has secured an additional £284 million to expand and improve the condition and suitability of 5 secondary schools and special schools, together with the expansion in provision for young people with Additional Learning Needs in mainstream settings.

Scope of Role

The Education Directorate has recently been restructured to create four service areas:

- a) Achievement
- b) Inclusion
- c) Services to Schools
- d) School Organisation, Access and Planning

The Assistant Director has overall operational responsibility for all services in the Achievement, Inclusion and Services to Schools areas, through the direct reports of heads of service. There are approximately 520 FTE staff in these areas, with budget from revenue, grant, and traded income of the order of £16.5M. Central budgets have been much reduced in recent years, and the Assistant Director will lead continuing service improvement to ensure that the Council continues to effectively deliver its role as the Local Authority despite these financial constraints.

The post has oversight of the working arrangements with the Central South Consortium through the Head of Achievement, and operational responsibility, working with colleagues in our Corporate Finance team, for the appropriate and efficient use of the schools' budget of £231M.

School, Organisation, Access and Planning reports to the role of Programme Director School Organisation Planning.

Political and stakeholder engagement

The Assistant Director will have extensive engagement with school leaders and chairs of governors, maintaining a culture of high expectations, both of, and from, schools.

The introduction of the ALNET reforms in Wales will present significant challenges, and opportunities. The Assistant Director will play a key role in working collaboratively with partners, especially health and Further Education, as well as with schools, in the implementation of these reforms.

The re-shaping of the city's ambitions for education, Cardiff 2030, will similarly require the Assistant Director to work across other Directorates, with elected members, and with others throughout the city.

CARDIFF COUNCIL

Assistant Director, Education and Lifelong Learning

Cardiff is one of the fastest growing cities in the UK and education is at the heart of our Capital Ambition plan for the future. Educational standards have improved significantly in recent years, and through strong partnership working education in Cardiff really is 'everybody's business'.

We are now setting our sights on education for 2030 in the capital city of Wales. We are ambitious, but also realistic about what more needs to be done.

Reporting to the Director of Education, you will have lead responsibility for service delivery and will be highly visible to school leaders and governors. The role offers significant professional challenge, and real scope for making a difference.

Salary £84,905

Closing date 11 February 2019

If you wish to have an informal discussion about the post please contact Nick Batchelar, Director of Education and Lifelong Learning Tel (029) 2087 2700.

This post is subject to Disclosure and Barring Service Enhanced checks.

This is a full-time, substantive post located in County Hall, but with commitments to travel across the city and the local region.

Cardiff welcomes applications in both English and Welsh. As a large public sector organisation, it is important to us that we support the economic wellbeing of our citizens and that our workforce better reflects the communities we serve. Therefore, although not a requirement for application, Cardiff welcomes and encourages applications from individuals from our local communities, including the BAME community and fluent Welsh speaker.
