WORKING FOR CARDIFF,
WORKING FOR YOU

Leader's Introduction

Cardiff is now a true economic, cultural and political capital city. It's a city of strong and safe communities, great schools and universities, and creative, talented, welcoming people.

The city economy is growing, jobs and businesses are being created and unemployment is at its lowest level this decade. The city's profile has never been higher, and visitor numbers are growing every year. It's a far cry from the city that was grappling with the challenges of deindustrialisation only a generation ago. Undeniably, Cardiff is Wales' strongest economic asset and the nation's best opportunity to secure sustainable economic success.

But there are major challenges too. For too long, the gap between rich and poor has been allowed to grow and many of Cardiff's communities are amongst the poorest in Wales. Indeed, if the 'Southern Arc' of Cardiff, from Ely in the West to Trowbridge in the East was considered a single local authority, it would be far and away the poorest in Wales. Too many people in Cardiff – many from working families – are struggling to meet their basic needs. Rates of child poverty in Cardiff are the highest in Wales. Almost one in every three children in our city now live in poverty. In some wards, it's higher than one in two.

One city, two worlds. Of prosperity and poverty. Our Capital Ambition is all about bringing these two worlds closer together.

This document sets out a programme of action, with commitments and targets, for how we intend to do this, in the face of what remain severe budget challenges faced by all public services. It sets out how we will continue to invest in and improve our schools, our plans for building more affordable housing and tackling homelessness, and how we will protect the city's most vulnerable people. It contains bold plans for tackling congestion and air pollution; improving recycling rates and keeping our streets clean.

In total, it contains a series of commitments which will help change the lives of many, many people in this city for the better. It's a plan that is ambitious for the future of our local public services, for the people and communities we serve and for the people of Wales.

Cllr Huw Thomas
Leader of Cardiff Council

Capital Ambition

Following the local government elections on 4 May 2017, a new Council Administration was formed. To outline its ambitions for the city, the Administration set out a new policy programme for the next five years, entitled 'Capital Ambition'.

Capital Ambition identifies four priorities:

- Working for Cardiff: Making sure that all our citizens can contribute to, and benefit from, the city's success.
- Working for Wales: A successful Wales needs a successful capital city.
- Working for the Future: Managing the city's growth in a sustainable way.
- Working for Public Services: Making sure our public services are delivered efficiently, effectively and sustainably in the face of the rising demand and reducing budgets.

Delivering Capital Ambition

Delivering Capital Ambition sets out how the Administration's priorities for Cardiff will be achieved, providing clarity on what will be delivered, and by when.

Supporting Future Generations

In accordance with the requirements of the Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act, Delivering Capital Ambition sets out Cardiff's Well-being Objectives, the steps it will take to achieve them and how we measure progress.

Glossary of Terms

- Well-being Objective: sets out what the Council wants to achieve
- Outcome Indicator: a measure of city-wide performance
- Steps: what the Council will do, and by when, to help achieve each Well-being Objective
- Key Performance Measures: measures of operational performance that indicate if the steps the Council are taking are effective
- Target: sets out a numerical value on Key Performance Measures to be achieved
- Budget Setting Process: how each public body will ensure that resources are allocated annually for the purpose of taking steps to meet its objectives
- Self-Assessment: a process that directorates undertake to help shape Well-being Objectives and identify the commitments for inclusion in Delivering Capital Ambition

Setting Well-being Objectives

The Well-being Objectives were set following a self-assessment process undertaken by each directorate. This process was designed to ensure that each directorate had due regard to the sustainable development principle by encouraging a consideration of the five ways of working.

Long term: The objectives and steps in this plan were informed by the Wellbeing Assessment 2017, the Population Needs Assessment and work on Future Trends undertaken by the Cardiff PSB.

Prevention: Drawing on the evidence, our objectives and steps are designed to tackle both the immediate demand pressures on public services and the root causes of these pressures, most importantly through tackling poverty and inequality.

Collaboration: The Wellbeing Objectives in this plan were developed in close collaboration with our public service partners, and the Public Services Board in Cardiff has adopted the same seven Well-being Objectives, reflecting their shared aspirations and the common understanding of challenges facing the city.

Integration: The Wellbeing Objectives cut across departmental siloes, focussing on what all Council services can do to improve the wellbeing of the people of Cardiff, and contribute to the 7 national wellbeing goals.

Engagement: In developing the Wellbeing Objectives we have drawn on the results of the Ask Cardiff citizen survey – which received over 5600 responses – and on focus groups with 'seldom heard' groups.

The Council's Policy Framework

Capital Ambition sets out the Administration's policy agenda, focused on four priorities.

The Corporate Plan and the Well-being Plan are key documents in delivering Capital Ambition, as they translate the Administration's priorities into deliverable organisational objectives.

- Corporate Plan: focuses on the issues and services which the Council has prioritised
- Well-being Plan: focuses on areas of collaborative advantage in the delivery of public services

The Public Services Board in Cardiff has adopted the same seven Well-being Objectives which they want to achieve, reflecting their shared aspirations and the common understanding of challenges facing the city:

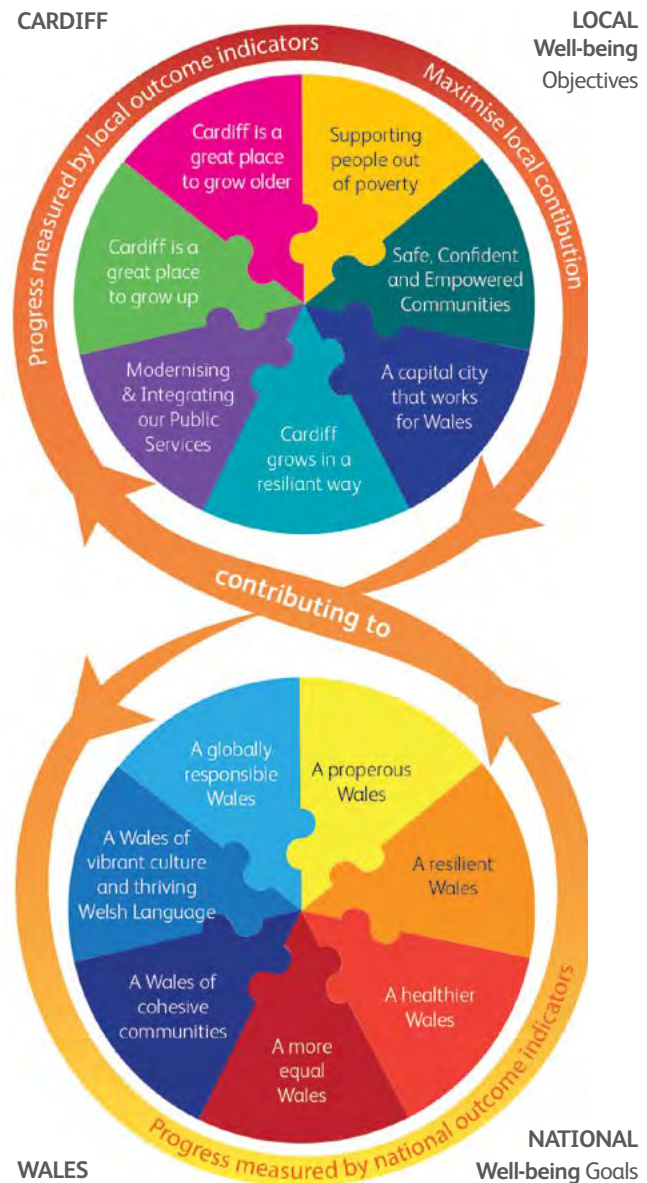

Both the Council and the Public Services Board will measure progress towards achieving the Well-being Objectives using the same indicators of city performance. Not only will this enable partners in Cardiff to keep track of how the city is performing, it will also help demonstrate Cardiff's contribution towards achieving the Welsh Government's aim to improve well-being nationally.

Contribution to National Well-being Goals

The Welsh Government has set out national well-being goals. Cardiff Council and the Cardiff Public Service Board have agreed local Well-being Objectives, which are complimentary with the national Well-Being Goals.

In order to measure Cardiff's progress towards achieving the 7 Well-being Objectives, a series of high level outcome indicators were selected which provided objective measures of the city's performance. Outcome indicators are high-level indicators which measure long-term trends. They provide an overview of the city's performance, both over time and relative to other cities and local authorities. The trends they measure are difficult to influence directly and no single body or organisation can be held accountable for delivering them. Because both Cardiff Council and the Cardiff Public Service Board are working towards the same 7 Well-being Objective, it was agreed that the Council and the PSB should adopt a complimentary set of indicators when measuring progress against the Well-being Objectives.

Whilst Cardiff Council and the PSB have recognised the same set of outcome indicators for measuring progress, the Council's Corporate Plan focuses on those most relevant to the Council. A selection of the outcome indicators are included in the Corporate Plan, with most of the data sets allowing Cardiff's contribution to national performance to be tracked and measured.

City Context: Cardiff Today

Growth and demographic change

Between 2005 and 2015, Cardiff's population grew by 11 %. This growth trend is set to continue with a projected growth of just over 20 % between 2017 and 2037 - or an additional 73,000 people - making Cardiff one of the fastest growing UK Core Cities. This also means that, over the next 20 years, population growth in Cardiff is expected to outgrow the combined population growth of every other local authority in Wales.

Population Growth 2017-2037

Strong economy but persistent inequality

Cardiff is one of the fastest-growing and most highly-skilled cities in Britain. The city economy is growing, jobs and businesses are being created and unemployment is at its lowest level this decade. The city's profile has never been higher, and visitor numbers are among the highest they've ever been. Undeniably, Cardiff is Wales' strongest economic asset and the nation's best opportunity to secure sustainable economic success.

That said, Cardiff's total economic output (GVA) - although much higher than other parts of Wales - compares relatively poorly to the top performing major British cities. After 10 years of continual growth the city's economy is not becoming more productive. This has meant that the gap between rich and poor has grown with many of Cardiff's communities amongst the poorest in Wales. Indeed, if the 'Southern Arc' of Cardiff, from Ely in the West to Trowbridge in the East, was considered a single local authority, it would be far and away the poorest in Wales. Too many people in Cardiff - many from working families - are struggling to meet their basic needs. Poverty is damaging for our economy and our society, it places major pressures on public services, and casts a long shadow over too many lives.

Austerity

The Council's priorities must be delivered in the context of a budgetary position that continues to deteriorate rapidly. The Council is approaching a £¼bn in cumulative savings made over the past 10 years, including over £105m from 2014/15 to 2016/17. With funding for schools and social services broadly maintained, this has necessitated a significant reduction in the proportion of Council spending on other services, from 39 % of the budget in 2005/06 to 24 % in 2017/18. Alongside funding reductions, the Council has lost a number of staff, with a reduction of over 20 % in non-school staff numbers since 2012/13.

Looking ahead, the Council anticipates that it will have to make savings of £91m over the next three years, with other public services organisations facing similar pressures. The Council, along with its public service partners, is therefore facing a continued period of severe budget constraints at a time when demand for services is projected to rise significantly and citizen expectations of excellent quality services remains high.

Implications for local public services

The reality is that public services must focus on a smaller number of key priorities, and Capital Ambition makes clear those priorities for the Council. Moving forward, both the Council and all its delivery partners must ensure that our services are as streamlined and as joined up as possible if lasting solutions are to be delivered to complex problems. Removing the barriers that prevent people from getting a job, delivering the best outcomes for children in our care and helping people to live independently all require services to be delivered without boundaries. This will mean a relentless focus on service integration to deliver the outcomes that we want to achieve, whilst re-focusing investment into prevention and early intervention in order to tackle issues before they escalate.

Capital Ambition Priority: Working for Cardiff

Well-being Objective:

Cardiff is a great place to grow up

For many children and young people in our city, Cardiff is a great place in which to grow up. Education provision and the achievements of learners are both improving. The city offers a wealth of opportunities in sports, leisure and culture. And as the economy develops, there are a widening range of job opportunities within reach. However, currently not all of our young people are benefitting, and we know that we need to do more to address this inequality in achievement, participation and progression in the working world.

Becoming a Child Friendly City

Cardiff is one of the five cities in the UK to be developing, in partnership with UNICEF UK, as a 'Child Friendly City'. This means we place the rights of children and young people at the heart of our policies and strategies; we involve young people in decision making and commit to addressing barriers which limit their lives.

Every School in Cardiff is a Great School

Education remains the top priority for young people in Cardiff, the most vital investment into the city's economy and the surest route out of poverty for individuals. That is why the city is committed to building on the progress of recent years to make sure that every school in Cardiff is a good or excellent school, and that the gap in educational outcomes, particularly for vulnerable young people and those from more deprived communities, is reduced. Projections indicate an increase of 5,700 (18%) in the number of primary school age pupils, and an increase of over 9,000 (37%) in the number of secondary school age pupils by 2036. With Cardiff's existing school system operating at or near full capacity, significant investment will be needed to build new schools and to refurbish and improve existing accommodation. Given the scale of the investment and importance of schools in communities, they must be at the heart of the city's approach to community life, with strong links to other public services to local people and community groups. Our vision is that all children and young people in Cardiff attend a great school and develop the knowledge, skills and characteristics that lead them to become personally successful, economically productive and actively engaged citizens. To make 'every school a great school', we will continue to drive forward the strategic priorities included in Cardiff 2020.

Supporting Vulnerable Children and Families

Parents have the most significant influence on children and on their future lives. Outcomes for children are best when they are supported to grow and achieve within their own families, as they know them best. In all cases, we will adopt a 'Think Family' approach which looks at the family as a whole and co-ordinates support across the public services, tailored to each family's needs and strengths. Public and third sector partners including teachers, health practitioners, social workers, youth workers, third sector practitioners, early years practitioners and play workers will work together to deliver a joined-up approach to enable the right conversations to take place at the right time, between the right people and for solutions to be found at the earliest possible stage, particularly for the most vulnerable children and families.

The identification and protection of vulnerable children needs to be everybody's business. Within our local communities we want individuals to feel empowered to identify where they feel a child is at risk, raising concerns that may not be picked up through the provision of universal services for families. This will be supported by a Children's Services approach which places an emphasis on prevention and early intervention to give children the best possible outcomes and better manage the pressure on public services.

Well-being Objective:

Cardiff is a great place to grow older

As the city grows, and life expectancy continues to increase, the number of older people living in Cardiff aged between 65 and 84 is expected to rise significantly; over 44 % in the next 20 years. The number of people aged 85 and older is also expected to nearly double by 2030. At the same time, older people will increasingly become an important asset to the city, making a significant contribution to the economy and our local communities.

These demographic changes will place additional and significant pressures on public service delivery in Cardiff, particularly in terms of health and social care provision. The cost of delivering social care is already increasing, with a 50 % rise in costs for delivering services for older people between 2011 and 2016 (£21.3m to £31.9m). There is no sign of these pressures relenting.

Joining up Social Care, Health and Housing

There is a need to find working solutions to both immediate social care pressures and longer-term challenges. Working in ever-closer partnership with the Health Service and the third sector, joining up our services at a community level, working closely with partners – including voluntary groups, unpaid carers and volunteers – will be crucial to ensuring that as many people as possible are supported to live fulfilled and independent lives in their communities.

To reduce demand and cost pressures on public services at a time of reducing budgets, there is a need to re-focus investment on prevention and promoting independent living. This is not only a more sustainable approach to meeting an individual's needs in later life, but will also deliver better health outcomes.

The adoption of a preventative approach within social care, health and housing services will be of central importance. This will require the accelerated integration of public services for older people that are delivered in Cardiff, including joining up our resources and services at a community level. It will also underpin the continued development of a full range of preventative services that are geared towards reducing the demand pressures of an ageing population and can empower people to live independently in their home.

Age Friendly and Dementia Friendly City

The city's ageing population, especially those with long-term medical conditions or chronic health issues such as dementia, will place increasing demands on health and social care services. For example, by 2035, it is predicted that over 6,000 people in Cardiff will be living with dementia, up from 3,400 people today.

Cardiff's status as an age-friendly and dementia friendly city will require structures to be adapted and services to be accessible to, and inclusive of, older people with varying needs and capacities. Additional community and primary care services will be required to meet the needs of those older people with specific medical conditions or more complex care needs. This means ensuring that policies and programmes of work that focus on the needs of older citizens, particularly those who are most disadvantaged, are central to the work of service providers. Assessment, diagnosis and care planning practices will require genuine collaboration with older people, their carers and their families, so that their care plan reflects what is important to them and achieves the outcomes they value.

In order to help meet the health and social care needs of an ageing population in Cardiff, it will be important that new communities are designed in a way that accommodates the needs of older people, including the development of new housing that supports extra care provision and promotes independent living. This will need joint planning and provision of a range of future accommodation options to meet the demand for housing and enable people to remain at home. There is also a need to tackle social isolation and loneliness within local communities through the development of accessible, local and strong community networks to support the needs of older people where they live. Enabling older people to play a role in their communities, developing inter-generational services and improving access to community activities can dramatically improve physical and mental health, reducing the risk of falls and helping older people enjoy independent lives for longer.

Well-being Objective:

Supporting people out of poverty

Despite Cardiff's economic growth and success during the last 30 years, poverty and inequality persist within local communities. Over 60,000 people in Cardiff live in some of the most deprived communities in Wales. In addition, if the 'Southern Arc' of Cardiff from Ely in the West to Trowbridge in the East, which has a population of over 150,000, was considered as a local authority area in its own right, it would be by far the most deprived in Wales.

Socially Responsible Employers

An economy which creates more and better jobs, paying at or above the Living Wage, is vital to tackling poverty. Cardiff Council proudly pays staff the Real Living Wage, providing an honest day's pay for an honest day's work. The Living Wage Foundation also named Cardiff Council its Living Wage for Wales Champion for 2017-18 in recognition of the Council's 'outstanding contribution to the development of the Living Wage in Wales, above and beyond the requirements of accreditation.' The Council will continue to actively encourage other employers in the city to pay the Real Living Wage.

Public services in Cardiff employ nearly 46,000 people and contribute over £1bn of spend to the local economy. In addition to delivering vital public services, public bodies such as the Council are major employers who have the potential to make a real impact on tackling poverty in the city. This includes adapting procurement policies to deliver a greater amount of community benefits and increase spend in the local economy. It also includes promoting the Cardiff Commitment and creating employment opportunities, including apprenticeships and work placements, for local people, particularly young people, from Cardiff's most deprived communities.

Tackling Poverty

Tackling poverty is vital to creating a strong economy. A focus on creating more and better-paid jobs in Cardiff must therefore go hand-in-hand with effectively removing the barriers to work – whatever they may be for all citizens. This will require continued support for those affected by Welfare Reform as the transition to Universal Credit is rolled out, while providing effective, joined-up employment support services across the city. In the same way, the Council must help ensure that regeneration schemes, major projects and fast growing sectors are supported by appropriate skills and training programmes. Cardiff's emerging locality approach, which joins-up public services at a local level in a way that makes sense for each particular community, building on the success of the Community and Well-being Hub Model, will be the heart of the city's approach to tackling poverty. The reform of the Welsh Government's flagship anti-poverty programmes also provides an opportunity to simplify and target funding, with the flexibility to respond to individual families' and communities' strengths and challenges.

Tackling Homelessness and Rough Sleeping

There is no more striking instance of poverty and inequality than the sight of people sleeping rough on the streets of the nation's capital. What is more, the solution is not as straightforward as offering a roof and a warm bed. With nearly half of service users reporting experience of institutional care, substance misuse and other complex needs, delivering lasting solutions will require intensive collaboration. An integrated response across social care, health and housing will be needed, working with the city's regional partners to intervene early, as well as addressing the complex dependency issues faced by each individual.

Well-being Objective:

Safe, Confident and Empowered Communities

Communities are at the heart of well-being. They play a vital role in connecting people with the social networks and the day to day services we all depend on. The Council will therefore prioritise activities to make sure that communities in Cardiff are safe, that people in Cardiff feel safe and that they have easy access to the services that they need. We will also continue to deliver services, at the local level, in a well-planned, connected and integrated way.

Safeguarding and Supporting Vulnerable People

One of the Council's first duties is to safeguard people in Cardiff – particularly vulnerable children and adults – from harm, abuse or other types of exploitation. An important part of this agenda involves supporting individuals in maintaining control over their lives and in making informed choices. Helping those who need care and support will remain a clear priority. The Council will continue to collaborate with partners, playing a lead role in protecting and safeguarding individuals who need care and support from abuse, neglect or any other kinds of harm.

Safe and Inclusive Communities

Cardiff is a safe city. Cardiff citizens are a third less likely to be the victim of crime than a decade ago. However the perception is very different and the fear of crime has not decreased. Citizens do not have the confidence that they, their families and their communities are safe. And while Cardiff is safe for the overwhelming majority, a small number of people – particularly children and women – are subject to abuse, violence and exploitation. The Council will work with partners to develop new and integrated approaches to protect individuals at risk, as well as tackling community safety issues in our local communities.

More broadly, cities must be vigilant against the threat posed by the tiny minority who do not share our values. It is recognised that countering the threat of all forms of radicalisation and extremism can only be achieved by working in close partnership with organisations and communities. The Council will nurture community cohesion – the sense of belonging felt by communities, and the strong and positive relationships within them – and understanding, where individuals have the opportunity to connect and become engaged with their community.

Regenerating Local Communities and Citizen Centred Services

The Council will seek to empower communities by aligning community services, making sure that developments and investments in local communities are well-planned and maximising the impact of public investment through a new approach to 'locality working', building on the success of the Community Hub programme.

Work will be undertaken to promote relationships within communities with a strong focus on civic engagement. Just over a quarter of people in Cardiff are participating in some form of volunteering through charities, youth groups, environmental and faith groups. Volunteering makes communities more resilient, and helps people gain confidence, learn new skills and give back to those around them, benefiting community cohesion.

We know that more people want to volunteer than currently do and the Council has a role to play in helping people support the city they live in. This forms an important part of the New Deal approach, with Cardiff residents and the Council working together to address the issues affecting the city and realise our shared ambitions.

Supporting Sports, Leisure, Culture and Green Spaces

Healthy communities require access to a range of leisure facilities, including parks, green spaces as well as sports and leisure facilities. The Council will work to increase participation in sport and physical activities, unlocking continued support for sporting, play and physical activity facilities, particularly in the city's most deprived communities.

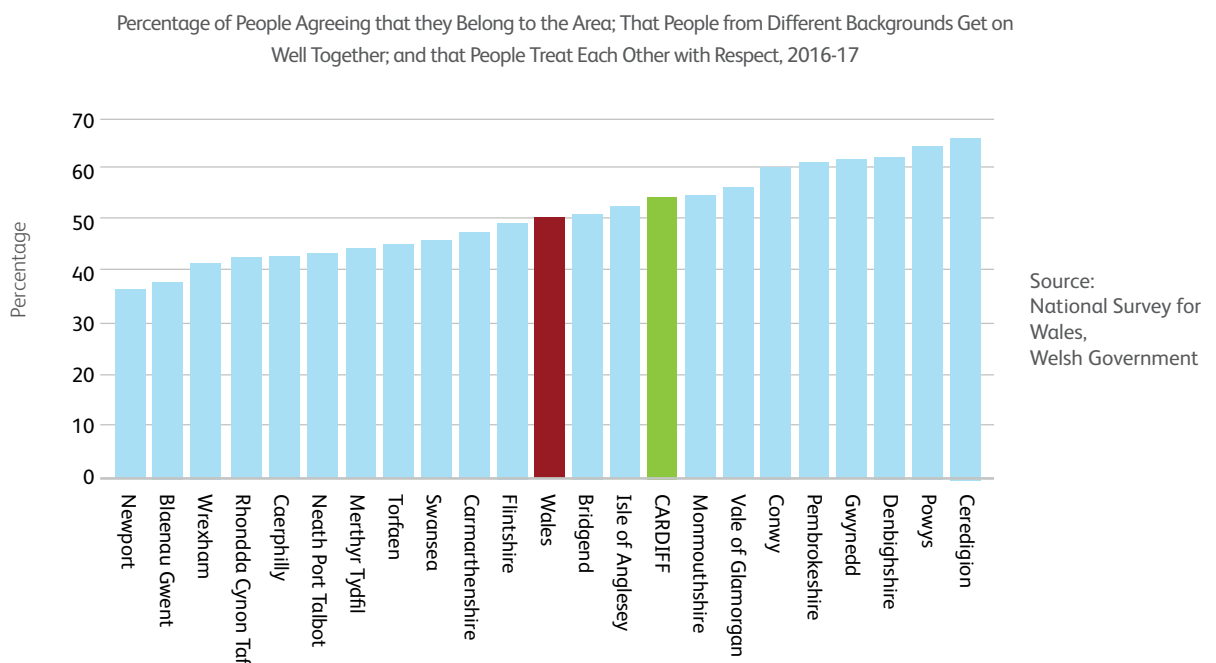

Culture in Cardiff is one of the main reasons why people love living here. Our theatres, music venues, and museums are at the heart of what the city has to offer. Learning about the city's heritage boosts community pride and strengthens a sense of place. By working in partnership with Cardiff's cultural communities we can encourage public engagement with art and culture whilst nurturing and promoting the wealth of artistic talent and activity already present in Cardiff.

Supporting the Welsh language is a key step towards creating a truly bilingual capital city and the Council will continue to deliver on its commitments to making this a reality.

Capital Ambition Priority: Working for Wales

Well-being Objective: A Capital City that Works for Wales

Cardiff's regeneration story is a significant one. It has been transformed from a city weighed down by de-industrialisation in the 1970s to one of the most competitive in the UK. It is a young and talented city with a growing business base, a start-up culture and a thriving visitor economy. If we are to continue to deliver for the people of Cardiff and Wales however, we cannot stand still. We will therefore have a relentless focus on delivering more, and better, jobs for the people of Cardiff. The momentum seen in both the Central Square development and in Cardiff University's Innovation System demonstrates that we are well placed to respond to the challenge.

We will therefore build a more Connected Capital, securing investment in the physical and digital infrastructure that unleashes the potential of our city's people. We need to upgrade our city infrastructure to support the development of more home-grown business and attract more inward investment. Moving beyond City Deal, our role as the driver of the city-region economy must be promoted and exploited. Cardiff must also continue to be an outward looking, international city, acting as the connecting point between Wales and the world.

We will build on our success as a Business Capital, with a relentless focus on creating new jobs and opportunities for people in Cardiff and across the city-region, raising productivity for the city and for the nation. We know that whilst Cardiff has been successful in developing and attracting jobs we need to continue to climb the value chain. We also know that if we are to raise income levels we will need to become more productive.

We will develop a more Inclusive Capital by providing a range and choice of jobs across the city so that everyone can access an opportunity to reach their full potential. We must ensure big city projects translate into economic prosperity, and the benefits need to be felt in all of the city's communities.

We will build a Smarter Capital, working with partners to leverage the investment potential of key high-value sectors: the creative and digital industries, and financial and professional services - sectors in which Cardiff already has companies with international significance. Our universities need to become central to our ambitions in the way that they have not been in the past. The Council also needs to engage more with business and embrace the full potential of public private partnerships which have served the city so well in the past.

Cardiff has developed a deserved reputation as a sporting and cultural Capital City. From the Champions League to local park-runs, sport and leisure has an impact on all aspects of city life. Investment in sporting infrastructure has focussed on the west of the city, and opportunities remain to build on this to cement the city's position not only as a place where major sporting events take place, but also one with world class facilities for use by elite athletes through to those in the local community. We will continue to invest in the city's sporting infrastructure and ensure a full programme of international events.

Capital Ambition Priority: Working for the Future

Well-being Objective:

Cardiff Grows in a Resilient Way

Cardiff's growth will create major economic and cultural opportunities. It will also put pressures on city infrastructures and public services. Capitalising on the opportunity of growth and ensuring that its benefits are widely felt, whilst mitigating its effects, will define Cardiff's development over the next 20 years.

Housing

Cardiff's Local Development Plan sets out that 41,000 new homes will need to be built by 2026. Whole new communities will soon be created that do not currently exist and making sure that these communities are well-planned and well-connected, with easy access to public services, community facilities and green and blue spaces, will be a strategic priority.

Transport

A shift to more sustainable forms of transport will be needed. Given the projected increase in population, a shift to more sustainable forms of transport will be needed. With 20 % more people expected to commute to work and a 32 % net increase in traffic, all this will put a strain on already congested roads. As a consequence, journey times are expected to increase by approximately 41 %. The Council has therefore set a target for a '50:50 modal split by 2021 with 50 % of journeys to be made by sustainable transport. Meeting these ambitious targets will require investment into public transport systems, cycling infrastructure and cleaner vehicles and promoting behaviour change, all of which must be supported by major employers and public service partners. Getting this right will provide a boost to the city economy, to quality of life overall and can be expected to bring major health benefits through increased levels of cycling and walking, and improved air quality.

Waste and Recycling

As the city grows, it will create more waste. Cardiff has a good track record for recycling and composting, with recycling increasing from 4 % in 2001 to 58 % in 2016/2017. These improvements will need to be continued if Cardiff is to meet the Welsh Government targets of recycling 64 % of waste by 2020, rising to 70 % by 2025. Focus will need to be placed on minimising the waste produced in the first place, encouraging increased household and business recycling, and optimising our re-use and household recycling centre performance.

Clean Streets

It is recognised that clean streets are a priority for the city's residents. Frontline services will focus on tackling all forms of littering, a zero tolerance approach will be adopted and communities will be empowered to help deliver a city environment that befits the nation's capital and which local people can be proud of.

Capital Ambition Priority: Working for Public Services

Well-being Objective:

Modernising and Integrating Our Public Services

The Council recognises the need to modernise its systems and processes to support service delivery. This will mean streamlining and simplifying the way the Council does business, making better use of the Council's asset base and finding new and better ways of working to take advantage of new technology. Equally important is the need for the Council to work across the public services in order to deliver lasting solutions to complex problems. Typically this will require change across services, often working in partnership with other organisations, with local communities and with those who receive the service. Traditional organisational and service boundaries will need to be broken down, and services will need to be redesigned, with stakeholders, assets and resources brought together around the particular needs of people and local communities.

Delivering Strategic Change

Delivering the priorities outlined in this Plan will therefore require a significant refocusing of the Council's change management capacity. In particular, a small number of key priorities will require a mobilisation of corporate leadership and resources including dedicated project teams with corresponding governance and performance management arrangements. The Capital Ambition Delivery Programme focuses on two discrete components: Modernisation and Resilient Services. Modernisation will focus on the transformation of corporate systems and processes that support service delivery, whilst Resilient Services will focus on the transformation of front-line services.

Modernising Council services will mean using technology to help the Council better manage increasing demand for services whilst increasingly providing digital access to services indistinguishable from that available to citizens in every other aspect of their lives. Equally, being more inventive and creative with our assets means that running costs can be reduced whilst at the same time better supporting when and where we deliver services. It is also acknowledged that delivering this change will require continued investment in the workforce, with the Cardiff Manager Programme and the work of the Cardiff Academy important pointers to the Council's commitment in this area.

Sustainable Services and Organisational Performance

Despite having to achieve budget savings of over £145m during the last 5 years and losing 22 % of non-school Council staff, Cardiff Council has continued its journey of improvement. In 2016/17, Cardiff's performance improved to 13th position out of the 22 Local Authorities in Wales, increasing from 17th in the previous year. Education performance remains significantly better than the all-Wales position and, overall, 60 % of Cardiff Council indicators were ranked 1st to 11th out of the 22 Local Authorities.

Cardiff was also ranked third for the level of citizen satisfaction with Council services and emerged as one of the most trusted public service providers in Wales according to one of the Welsh Government's most wide-reaching opinion surveys. The Council's Annual Complaints report also shows a decrease in complaints for the fifth year running whilst noting an increase in compliments received.

In terms of customer service, the Council has areas of consistent good practice, such as our network of Community Hubs, our First Point of Contact providers, park rangers, event stewards and library staff. Service delivery across a number of visible services is also good, despite dealing with a high volume of demand on a regular basis. For example, Waste Management make over 24 million collections with a less than 1 % failure rate. Good customer engagement is clearly evident within front line service delivery teams and the Council will continue to work to ensure that customer management is characterised by the same level of excellence throughout the organisation.

Maintaining this journey of improvement will therefore require a focus on the Council's priorities, but also on the successful delivery of the Capital Ambition Delivery Programme, which seeks to improve efficiency and service performance whilst ensuring the long-term sustainability of key frontline services.
