THE GLAMORGAN ARCHIVES JOINT COMMITTEE

REPORT OF:

THE GLAMORGAN ARCHIVIST

	AGENDA ITEM NO
REPORT FOR THE PERIOD 1st May – 31st July 2021

1. PURPOSE OF REPORT

This report describes the work of Glamorgan Archives for the period 1st May to 31st July 2021

2. BACKGROUND

As part of the agreed reporting process the Glamorgan Archivist updates the Joint Committee quarterly on the work and achievements of the service.

Members are asked to note the content of this report.

3. ISSUES

A. MANAGEMENT OF RESOURCES

1. Staff

Maintain establishment

Rasheed Khan, Corporate Trainee, completed his placement with us at the end of May. Initially contracted for 9 months, Rasheed's traineeship was adversely affected by the pandemic, and was therefore extended for an additional 6 months. Rasheed contributed to several projects across the office and proved to be a valuable member of the team. We wish him well in his future career.

Continue skill sharing and volunteer programme

18 volunteers continue to work remotely on projects, contributing approximately 391 hours during the quarter. Volunteer hours generally dip during the summer months due to time spent on holiday and seeing family; given the recent lifting of restrictions it is not surprising to see them do so even more than usual.

We were pleased to resume the annual summer visit for our volunteers this year. Roger Swan of Cardiff Bereavement Services provided a warm welcome to and an interesting and informative tour of Cathays Cemetery. Following the visit, a volunteer said 'Thank you for organizing such an interesting visit yesterday. It was so good to do something normal again and meet people face to face'. In addition, monthly tea breaks for the volunteers on Zoom have continued and regular updates are circulated by email.

Volunteers continue to work remotely on four projects: indexing of crew lists from the port of Cardiff, indexing of Merthyr Tydfil Union admission and discharge registers, listing of images in the Cardiff Bay Development Corporation and the transcription of the Leversuch family correspondence. Two of the volunteers are working on research projects and writing posts for the Archives' blog.

In addition, two volunteers have started to produce a finding aid to the 1899 diary of Mervyn Crawshay. Mervyn Crawshay (1881-1914) was the son of Tudor Crawshay (1850-1921), and great-grandson of the ironmaster William Crawshay (1788-1867) of Cyfarthfa Castle. In addition to a noteworthy military career, he was a fine horseman and represented England in military tournaments held in America in 1913, winning the Gold Cup in the competition open to the world. In 1912 Crawshay married Violet Von Mann, daughter of Captain Von Mann of the Indian Army. Crawshay was killed on active service at Messines, Belgium, on 14 November 1914.

A week long virtual work experience programme and tasks have been developed however the two placements which had been booked for the quarter were cancelled as both gained employment.

Continuing Professional Development

A number of staff have completed the both the first and second parts of the Digital Preservation Coalition's Novice to Know-How online course on providing access to preserved digital content, thus ensuring the whole team increases their knowledge of the issues around digital preservation.

Three members of staff continue to attend Welsh language training. Classes have come to end for the summer and will restart in September.

The Glamorgan Archivist attended sessions on Digital Marketing Strategy development provided by Heritage Digital, a day-long symposium on Heritage in the Higher Education Sector provided by Swansea University, and a seminar on Demonstrating Organisational Impact provided by The National Archives.

Stefan Walker, Records Assistant, attended the Wales Map Symposium, hosted online by the Royal Commission on Ancient and Historic Monuments Wales.

The Senior Archivist attended a Wellcome Trust webinar 'Nothing About Us Without Us', exploring research into disability history.

Hannah Price, Archivist, attended an online workshop provided by The National Archives which focused on managing volunteers in a blended (on-site and virtual) work environment. She also attended a webinar entitled 'Recruiting, retaining, and managing digital volunteers' provided by Heritage Digital.

Louise Hunt, Archivist attended a webinar provided by the National Archives on their new Data Protection Toolkit. The toolkit should prove very useful when dealing with future data access requests and data protection issues.

2. Budget

Manage to best advantage

Ongoing budget monitoring continues to take place, with constant regard taken for items of expenditure and opportunities sought to increase income.

Maximise benefit from income generation

It is expected that there will be slightly more income within this financial year than predicted owing to several factors, including: the continued occupancy of storage space by Carmarthenshire Archives (who had been scheduled to move out in April but are now scheduled to vacate in October), the stated intention of Cardiff Council's Social Services team to resume face-to-face training using the large training room again from September, and other small additions.

Indexes and images to the Glamorgan Electoral Registers have been published on Ancestry. There are now a number of Glamorgan-based resources on Ancestry and discussions are underway around other record sets that could possibly be digitised for inclusion on Ancestry.

The Glamorgan Archivist was interviewed by a consultant evaluating the Cultural Recovery Fund on behalf of Welsh Government, due to the funding received by the service at the end of the last financial year.

Promote partnerships and networks

National

Recruitment for Cohort 4 of the Cultural Ambition trainees has been completed. Hannah Price, Archivist, sat on the interview panel for the south-east Wales trainee, who will start his placement with us in January.

The Senior Archivist continues to attend meetings of the Archives and Records Council Wales (ARCW) Diversity and Inclusion Group.

The Glamorgan Archivist has recently taken over the Chair of the Archives and Records Association's Volunteering Sub-Committee, which looks at the way that archives use volunteers and thinks about best practice in the use, recruitment and maintenance of volunteers.

Work is continuing on the establishment of a Clip Corner for the National Broadcast Archive.

The Glamorgan Archivist is leading on an ARCW working group designing an exhibition celebrating 'Life in Wales in the 1920s', which is coming out in early 2022 to coincide with the release of the 1921 Census by The National Archives. As part of this work, a successful grant application was submitted to ARCW for £10,000 towards the design and hosting of the online exhibition.

The Glamorgan Archivist continues to represent ARCW on the national Sporting Heritage Panel. The Sporting Heritage Framework for Wales has recently been put out for consultation, and a broad sporting heritage network established.

Local

The Heritage and Cultural Exchange launched their exhibition at the Butetown Community Centre in July. Glamorgan Archives were thanked for their support. The exhibition will be displayed in our foyer area later this year.

In partnership with Cardiff People First and the Museum of Cardiff, we presented a paper at the Disability History Conference hosted by London Metropolitan Archives. We discussed People First Takeover and the benefits it brought us as heritage organisations.

Partnership work with the Scribla artist collective based in south Cardiff is progressing with the Senior Archivist continuing to attend meetings of the steering group to offer advice on archive research.

The Senior Archivist attended the launch of the Vale People First 'Dejavu in the Vale' website. The site, produced by members, explores the history of Barry, with much of the research undertaken at Glamorgan Archives prior to the first lockdown. Plans for a physical exhibition at Barry Memorial Hall and at Glamorgan Archives were amended with the exhibition moved online. It can be viewed at <https://www.valepeoplefirst.org.uk/dejavu/>.

We are also working with Vale People First on plans for People First Takeover, which will take place, virtually, at the end of August.

Cardiff People First have received funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund for their latest project, Taking Over the New Normal. Working with Glamorgan Archives and the Museum of Cardiff, they will create resources explaining how access to archives and museums has changed as a result of the pandemic, with the aim of ensuring that people with a learning disability can continue to access our services. The Senior Archivist supported recruitment of the two project officers. They made an initial visit to the Archives in mid-July to learn how our services have changed, and were shown the searchroom and reception by Laura Russell, Archivist.

The 4 Winds Mental Health Resource Service is hosting arts workshops in Grangetown, Cardiff. Following a request from the lead artist, duplicate Ordnance Survey plans identified for disposal have been presented to the organisation for use in their art work. Discussions are ongoing about potential future partnership working.

The Glamorgan Archivist gave a short presentation on depositing documents with the Archives at a meeting of the LGBTQ+ Research Network.

The Jewish History Association moved out of Glamorgan Archives and into their new office space in the Cardiff Reform Synagogue during May. Despite their change in location, we will continue to work in close partnership to ensure the preservation of, and access to records of the Jewish community in our area.

Potential partnerships

We continue to work with charity The Wallich on their proposed project to train up homeless people to work as tour guides in Cardiff city centre.

3. Building and systems

Maintain building

Maintenance on different aspects of the building has continued over the period, with lighting replacements, lift repair and work on the building management system computer taking place, amongst other things.

Staff have been in the building on a daily basis since April, ensuring that the majority of tasks have almost returned to pre-pandemic status.

Ensure compliance

Staff Personal Development Reviews for 2020/21 have been closed and reviews initiated for the year 2021/22.

The Senior Archivist continues to attend meetings of Cardiff Council's Welsh Language Co-ordinators Group.

The Senior Archivist and Hannah Price, Archivist, attended the three day First Aid at Work course and are once again qualified First Aiders.

B. THE COLLECTION

1. Conservation

Repositories

Readings from the monitoring devices were downloaded in June. There are 14 units altogether, two in each strongroom and one in each of the rooms where records spend time (Box Making, Conservation, Isolation and the Searchroom). The readings are stable and within acceptable parameters

The average environmental conditions for this quarter:

Average RH and temperature for the last Quarter
	Average Temperature	Average Humidity
Strongroom 1	19.1°C	54.1%
Strongroom 2	20.5°C	55.5%
Strongroom 2A*	23.4°C	49.7%

Strongroom 3	20.5°C	53.4%
Strongroom 4	20.3°C	48.7%

* Does not contain Glamorgan Archives material

Conservation and preservation plans

Work continues on our National Manuscripts Conservation Trust (NMCT) grant-funded project to conserve the Plymouth estate maps (Ref: DPL/1-4). Helen Pedder, a private conservator, has been continuing work on the plans since the building reopened. Two volumes have been washed and repaired, with the third now undergoing treatment

The Conservator has been working on the Royal Welsh College of Music and Drama's NMCT-funded project with conservation student Rosie Hellyer. Unfortunately, illness in June and July has slowed progress slightly.

The Assistant Conservator has started work on the last of the Pontypridd Registry Office registers and has relined, attached new endpapers and made new case covers for 90 volumes.

Last year, West Glamorgan Archive Service commissioned Conservation to clean and repair a map of the Briton Ferry Estate, along with a detached painting from the base of the map. Work was completed a while ago and the map and painting have now been returned to West Glamorgan Archive Service, who are extremely pleased with the work that has been done.

In June, a small incidence of white mould was spotted growing on dust on two old plan-chests in strongroom 1. The mould has not affected any archival items but was an indication of an isolated microclimate. The mould was removed and the affected areas treated to sterilise the surface and inhibit future mould growth. Conservation staff are continuing to monitor the area to ensure there are no further issues.

An estimate of work has been carried out for Darren Macey (Acting Operational Manager, Rhondda Cynon Taf Heritage Services) for an application to the NMCT relating to the conservation of five volumes of minutes and accounts of Tynnewydd Women's Labour Party.

Conservation has recently acquired a tool from the Winterthur Museum in Delaware for identifying arsenic in 19th century book cloth, so suitable precautions will be able to be taken when conserving any material with this cloth.

Details of work completed are given in Appendix IV

2. Cataloguing

Strategies and plans

An application for grant-funding from Archives Portal Europe to aid the upload of catalogue data into the Archives Hub was not successful on this occasion, but we have been invited to resubmit at a future date.

Work continues on scoring collections based on their priority for required cataloguing work. 65% of all collections have now been assessed.

Work has resumed on the box listing of previously uncatalogued local authority records. This work was started several years ago in order to ensure we were able to identify any material that may be relevant to the Independent Inquiry in the Child Sexual Abuse in a timely manner if required. With staff now returned to the building, this work has been able to recommence.

Collection development

Initial receipts were issued within the target time. Full receipts were issued within 15 working days for 70% of the accessions; the target is 60%. 90% of the accessions received between August 2020 and January 2021 had receipts issued within the 6 months target for more complicated deposits; the target is 90%.

The transfer of a large collection of drawings and plans created by William Burges, currently held at Cardiff Castle has begun. The drawings are designs for the development of Cardiff Castle and Castell Coch. The extent of the collection means that the transfer will be managed over several months to allow conservation staff to check the plans on arrival. Cardiff Castle are in receipt of a Welsh Government grant that is allowing them to conduct work on the collection, and as part of that process they are transferring the collection to us for storage. We will be working closely with Cardiff Castle on the collection over the forthcoming months and years and intend to apply for others grants to do more with the collection.

Negotiations are underway for the deposit of several other larger collections, including a collection of glass plate slides, originally from a Cardiff photography studio, and the records of Theatr Iolo, a local theatre company that works with schools in Cardiff and the Vale of Glamorgan. Arrangements are also being made to continue the transfer of archives from the Principality Building Society. This had started at the end of 2019 / early 2020 but was put on hold due to the pandemic.

A full list of accessions is given in Appendix I.

Digital preservation

Louise Hunt, Archivist has been attending a webinar series provided by digital preservation project staff at the National Library of Wales entitled 'Saving the Bits'. So far sessions have looked at assessment models, workflows, setting up a workstation for processing digital collections, creating a digital asset register and handling digital accessions.

Work has continued on the Welsh Vital Digital Information project, led by the Glamorgan Archivist. The project steering group now includes representation from all of the local authority archive services in Wales. A funding application for another phase of work was submitted to Welsh Government's Local Government Digital Transformation Fund, but was unsuccessful. The steering group are looking at other options and continuing to disseminate the results of the first phase of work in the meantime. To that end, the Glamorgan Archivist presented on the project at a meeting of the Wales group of the Archives and Records Association and has co-authored an article which will be appearing in ARA's bi-monthly magazine, ARC, in the coming months.

C. ACCESS

1. On-site use

Monitor service and implement improvements

The searchroom reopened to the public on 8 June. A restricted service is being provided, with opening on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 10am-12.30pm and 1.30-4pm. This allows time for additional cleaning of public areas. Spaces are limited to 4 per session, to allow for distancing, and must be booked in advance. At first, documents had to be pre-ordered to allow for a 72-hour quarantine period prior to, and following consultation. The quarantine requirement was lifted in July, in line with the policy of the National Archives and other archive services in Wales. We continue to advise pre-ordering documents as restrictions are in place with regards access to some of our larger items. Demand has been high with most days fully booked.

In preparation for reopening, we invited volunteers to the office to test our systems and provide feedback on our new procedures. This proved very useful and resulted in small amendments to our processes.

Our new procedures have been made available on our website. We also created a short film explaining how things have changed since we reopened, to ensure that the information is accessible in a visual as well as written format. The film can be seen on our website and You Tube channel.

The Senior Archivist attended a webinar hosted by the National Archives to discuss the safe reopening of archive services.

An agreement has been made with Cardiff Council's Electoral Services team to provide access to the current register (full and edited) under supervision in our public searchroom while public access to County Hall is restricted.

Programme of user events

Our programme of online events continues. In May we were the virtual hosts of an event held by the Living Levels Partnership's RATS research volunteers. 'Tours, drives and walks through the Levels' saw volunteers present their findings on how the Levels were explored in the past, along with a talk from the RSPB on exploring the Levels on foot today.

Our July event, 'What can we expect from the 1921 Census?', was delivered by genealogist Jenni Phillips. It drew our largest audience yet, with 115 attending, including researchers from as far afield as Canada and Morocco. Feedback comments included:

Excellent Jenni - Lots of fascinating information about the times and what to expect!

Many thanks for an excellent talk. I really enjoyed it all. I am really looking forward to getting to grips with the actual census now.

Thank you for a really enjoyable and informative presentation

Excellent, informative talk. Super context given.

Education

Images of items from the Cardiff Police Records and the Cardiff Chamber of Commerce Records have been provided for inclusion in resources relating to the 1919 Cardiff Race Riots and the development of Cardiff Docks. Led by Ysgol Gyfun Gymraeg Bro Edern, the resources will also be shared with the school's cluster which comprises Ysgol Bro Edern, Ysgol Bro Eirwg, Ysgol Pen-y-Pil, Ysgol Pen-y-Groes, Ysgol Glan Morfa and Ysgol Berllan Deg.

2. External events

Identify and respond to major anniversaries

Social media has been used to commemorate a number of anniversaries and celebrate notable dates. These have included the 200th anniversary of the death of Napoleon Bonaparte; the 80th anniversary of the Second World War; the 20th anniversary of the opening of the Cardiff Bay Barrage; the Albion Colliery Explosion of 23 June 1894; Nurses Day; National Volunteers Week; International Archives Day, and the Day of the Seafarer.

3. Remote access

Monitor service and implement improvements

The 15 working day target on remote enquiries is met. Feedback comments have included:

I just want to thank you for the recent search you did for me and obtaining a photograph of my great uncle. Excellent service provided. Thank you again.

...this is the first time I have used this service and wouldn't hesitate to use it again or to recommend it to others. Once again, many, many thanks for all your help.

Many thanks and received perfectly. Absolutely brilliant to have my father's police record in this format with all the detail. Many thanks to you and your team for the work!

The ARA UK Distance Enquiries Survey continued during the quarter, with an invitation to complete an online satisfaction survey sent to all those contacting us by email with an enquiry. The survey closed on Sunday 25th July. The raw data has been received and the initial results look very positive. A full benchmarking report will be available in the autumn.

Interesting enquiries are reported in Appendix II.

Publicity

We continue to publicise the service through our blog. Recent articles have looked at the drawings of artist Mary Traynor, the Blitz and the link between the Olympic Games and Roath Park Lake in Cardiff.

Social media is being used to update the public on the impact of Covid19 restrictions on the service. Over the summer months we will be taking part in ARA Scotland's #ArchiveHoliday social media campaign, with weekly posts based on holiday-themed hashtags. We have highlighted our Glamorgan's Blood online exhibition, featuring a different panel each week, and ongoing work in the conservation studio. We also posted items relating to Euro 2020, the British and Irish Lions tour to South Africa, Cardiff Singer of the World, Wimbledon, and the Olympic Games.

We continue to post content relating to our Time and Tide project to social media on a weekly basis. A recent post, showing images of the Waterguard building being moved across the Bay in 1993, was featured in an article by Wales Online.

The Glamorgan Archivist was filmed at Dyffryn Gardens for the BBC's 'Antiques Roadshow' discussing the Butetown photographs which recently featured on 'BBC News'. The programme is expected to be broadcast towards the end of 2021 or beginning of 2022. The Senior Archivist also discussed the photographs on Radio Cardiff's 'Come on In' programme with Ceri Stennett, along with our plans for reopening the searchroom.

'Terfysg yn y Bae', a documentary on the 1919 Race Riots, aired on S4C on 13 May. Research was undertaken using items from the collection and filming took place in the searchroom.

Discussions have been held with staff to encourage more involvement with social media across the office.

Details of engagement are reported in Appendix III.

SUMMARY

It has been a hugely positive quarter with the reopening of the Glamorgan Archives searchroom to the public in June. Incremental improvements to access continue to be made, within COVID regulations, and it is hoped that this continues over the rest of the year. Staff have been working hard on continuing projects and partnership working, and there are a significant number of calls on the time of the team from different organisations. It is pleasing to be known for the strength of our work and that there is high value in a partnership with Glamorgan Archives.

5. FINANCIAL IMPLICATIONS

Any direct financial implications arising from this report have been accounted for in the 2020-21 monitoring position and will be met from within the revenue budget, supplemented, where necessary, from the General Reserve. In line with previous agreement, any underspend will be added to the General Reserve to support future budgetary pressure.

Notable accessions

Drs William and Mary Codd, GPs of Aberdare, Papers (D1794)

Drs William and Mary Codd ran a GP practice in Aberdare. This collection of household receipts dating from 1940s-1960s gives an insight into the various local businesses in the Cynon Valley, and an indication as to the cost of various goods and services.

Photograph of Proclamation of King George V at Barry Council Offices (D1799)

This large photograph, purchased from a 'junk shop' in the 1970s, shows a huge crowd gathered outside Barry Council Offices on the occasion of the proclamation of King George V, 1910. A crowd of 20,000 individuals were reported to have gathered and the occasion was marked with a 21 gun salute. The photograph shows that some individuals even took to the roof of the council offices to view the event.

Cardiff Burial Board Records (BUBC)

A significant addition to the existing collection of Cardiff Burial Board records, these 55 volumes include managers diaries, with details of each burial, minutes of the burial board, financial records and particulars of interments which include statistical analysis of burials. These records will complement the existing well used collection.

John May Photographs of Cardiff Buildings Collection (D1802)

This collection of photographs shows buildings that were at risk of demolition, or about to be redeveloped, across the city. The photographs capture aspects of the city's architecture that have now been lost and demonstrate the significant redevelopment that has taken place.

Interesting Enquiries

Family history remains as popular as ever, with many starting their research for the first time, or picking up the trail again, during the lockdown periods. We assisted a researcher seeking information on their great grandfather, a constable in the Glamorgan Constabulary, who died in service in 1892, aged 37. His funeral was reported in the local press and was attended by a large number of his colleagues including Chief Constable Lionel Lindsay. We found entries for him in the Register of Constables and List of Pensioners within the Glamorgan Constabulary records.

Two family history queries of note relate to our Coroners' Records. One involved a search for an inquest report on the death of a relative in Cardiff in 1913 following an incident with a train. The other led to a search of the Glamorgan Quarter Session rolls for coroner's accounts for an inquest held in 1843, which revealed that the Coroner was paid for each inquest held and the miles he travelled to attend, with the fee paid to him recorded in the accounts.

A more complex family history enquiry led us to consult Cardiff and Merthyr prison records for an ancestor who used several aliases during the period 1900-1915. We assisted a researcher in her quest to discover when her mother, now aged 85, was evacuated to Treharris during the Second World War. And we extracted information for another researcher on the trawler Miura, owned by Neale and West Ltd and shipwrecked in 1927. His mother is named after the ship and he is trying to find information about it to present to her on her 95th birthday.

Another shipping enquiry related to an accident in 1902. We don't hold a record of the enquiry into the incident, but we do hold crew lists for one of the vessels involved. Also in relation to local history, we assisted a researcher exploring the history of chapels in Nantymoel, with a particular interest in images of Dinam Chapel. We referred him to the Mid Glamorgan Chapel Survey which includes photographs, a history of the building and a local authority building plan showing additions from 1905.

Several academics have contacted us by email and visited the searchroom, seeking to progress their research now that services have begun to reopen. A PhD student researching industrial unionism and strikes among maritime workers in British ports during the period 1905-1926 was referred to several of our shipping collections along with records of the Cardiff Chamber of Commerce. We also provided assistance with a project exploring the role of women in Wales in the Second World War.

We continue to work in partnership with several local organisations, and recently supported South Wales Police in their search for details of a former employee who died on duty so that he could be added to their roll of honour. We were able to supply photographs of the officer's personal record providing all the information they needed.
